Russell Claims It Would Turn Tide Of War

U.S. Urged To Knock Out Vital North Viet Harbor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell advocated today broad-scale U.S. military action to knock out the harbor of Haiphong in North Viet Nam.

Russell, Georgia Democrat who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he believes the tide of battle in South Viet Nam no longer is running in favor of the Viet Cong. But he said to turn it definitely for the United States the harbor at Haiphong should be knocked out.

Haiphong, an important industrial city with a population of about 370,000, is located in the Gulf of Tonkin area about 50 miles from the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

"I believe we should bring the fleet into action, mine the harbor from the air, tell other nations to keep their ships out of there and knock out the waterfront," he said in an interview.

"I see no point in bombing the half-starved people of either Hanoi or Haiphong, but we should cut off the line of military supplies by enforcing a blockade," Russell said.

"I think this would have a very material effect on the progress of the war without bringing any acceleration of the conflict by our opponents. I do not believe the Chinese are going to get into the war unless the Russians should move in and that doesn't seem likely."

Russell said he favors increased bombing of North Viet Nam ground-to-air missile sites. He said he had urged Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to bomb the sites around Hanoi when they first were disclosed but the decision went against such action.

The Georgia senator, who just returned from a visit to the Dominican Republic and an inspection tour of Caribbean defense installations, said the situation in Santo Domingo remains potentially explosive.

"I think things are becoming more stable every day there," he said. "But there still is a hard core of well-trained dedicated Communists underground and the situation is fraught with danger from them."

U.S. Buildup In Viet Aims At Routing Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. aim in pouring more and more fighting men and equipment into South Viet Nam is to raise the tempo of attack to such a level that the Communists will be put on the run and ultimately worn out, says a Pentagon official.

This outline of U.S. strategy is clear from statements made Monday night by one of the top military planners for the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"Our objective is to keep the combat tempo at such a rate that the Viet Cong will be unable to recuperate," said Army Lt. Gen. B. E. Spivy in a Chicago speech.

"We want to get and keep them on the run," Spivy said.

"In guerrilla warfare, once the guerrillas are on the run, they are likely to run downhill toward military ineffectiveness and defeat."

First Action Under Emergency Powers

Wilson Expected To Strip Rhodesia Of Trade Rights

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson was expected to strip Rhodesia of its Commonwealth trading privileges today as his first action under sweeping emergency powers voted by Parliament.

Acting without a formal vote, the House of Commons and the House of Lords early today adopted emergency legislation authorizing Wilson to act by decree against the central African colony's rebellious white minority government.

All decrees take effect as soon as they are issued but expire unless approved by both houses of Parliament within 28 days.

Conservative critics argued that Wilson was getting a blank check for sanctions or any other action without parliamentary control. But they bowed to their party leadership's insistence that the government should not be opposed and that Britain should take a united stand against the Rhodesian government unilateral declaration of independence last Thursday.

The new law gives the British government power to annul any legislation passed by the current Rhodesian Parliament, including the independence constitution proclaimed by Prime Minister Ian Smith.

It declares that Rhodesia remains a part of Her Majesty's dominions, and that the government and Parliament of the United Kingdom hold responsibility and jurisdiction for the territory.

The declaration is aimed as much at the African-Asian bloc in the United Nations as at the Rhodesian rebels. Wilson's government at this stage is set against using force to put down Smith's regime and is insisting on Rhodesia's British status to head off any attempt to stage an invasion under the U.N. flag.

The government hopes that Rhodesia's white minority will withdraw its support from Smith once sanctions begin to hit their pocketbooks.

Already the Rhodesian pound has started a drastic slide on the London money market, so drastic that the Bank of England Monday revoked all licenses to deal in it.

Until last week, Rhodesia was part of the sterling system on which more than half the world's trade is conducted. Its pound was roughly on a par with the British pound at $2.80 Monday, it had fallen to $2.24, and the bank stopped dealings to prevent speculation. Some financial authorities thought a free market would develop now in Zurich or Brussels.

British government spokesmen derided a report from Rhodesia suggesting that Queen Elizabeth is sympathetic to the Rhodesian rebels. The report said Rhodesians have been told that before Wilson left to visit Rhodesia two weeks ago he was told by the queen: "Don't sell the white man down the river, Mr. Wilson."

"Absolute baloney, sheer invention," said a government spokesman.

Savage Fighting In Third Day

U.S. Cavalrymen Repulse Viet Cong Near Cambodia

LA DRANG VALLEY, South Viet Nam (AP) — Battered elements of a North Vietnamese regiment launched new assaults on U.S. cavalrymen today as savage fighting in the central highlands near the Cambodian border continued for the third day.

The cavalrymen beat off the Red attacks, and Communist losses reached 465 dead, a U.S. military spokesman said.

In the air war, two Communist MIG fighters fired on two unarmed U.S. photo-reconnaissance planes over North Viet Nam. The American planes escaped unharmed.

About 500 North Vietnamese resumed the attack on the 1st Cavalry troops in the La Drang Valley about 4 a.m. This attack tapered off at dawn, but three hours later about 600 North Vietnamese launched a coordinated attack against two U.S. units.

Two Red companies came at the Americans from one direction, while two others struck from another. Once again the Reds were driven back, a U.S. military spokesman said.

U.S. fighter-bombers pounded the Reds without letup, but the Communists showed no sign of retreating. They were dug in on a 1,700-foot hill overlooking the valley.

"The terrain is their own and is favorable to their defense, a U.S. spokesman said.

Several thousand American troops are battling an enemy regiment of about 1,500 men for control of the valley. The Communists apparently have not been reinforced since they first attacked Sunday.

Senior U.S. commanders say that U.S. and Vietnamese forces may have killed more than 1,200 Communist troops in the area near the Cambodian border since the Reds laid siege to the Special Forces camp at Plei Me Oct. 19. The camp is about 12 miles east of the La Drang Valley and 220 miles northeast of Saigon.

The Plei Me camp is a threat to a major supply route from North Viet Nam through Laos and Cambodia.

American casualties today were extremely light, in contrast with heavy losses Monday and Sunday. The brunt of the new attack was borne by one company of the 2nd Battalion of the 1st Cavalry's 7th Regiment. It had only six wounded in the action.

Weatherman Tosses Another 'Snowball'

The weatherman seems determined that the district experience some of the cold weather that generally goes with this time of the year.

A weekend forecast that things were going to get rougher weather-wise failed to materialize, but if the latest prediction holds up the next 24 hours will bring a different story.

The forecast calls for windy and turning much colder with showers changing to snow flurries tonight and Wednesday.

Judge To Get $4,000 Raise In New Term

The salary of Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff will be $4,000 higher when he starts his second six-year term Jan. 1. City Council voted the boost in an ordinance approved, 6-1, Monday night, raising the judge's annual pay from $8,300 to $12,300.

Councilman Robert W. Sample, the lone Republican member, voted against the boost for Chertoff, a Democrat.

But Sample said there was "no political feeling" in his opposition.

"I feel the judge deserves an increase, but not for the amount that is proposed," Sample said.

The six Democrats supported the legislation. They are Councilmen William Rea, James Cunningham, Donald Smith, William Davis, Norman Bucher and Donald Hancock. The legislation contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw.

In a caucus session, the judge reminded the councilmen that he appeared before them in April to seek a salary boost and was promised action before the end of the year.

The judge pointed out that once he begins the new term he will not be able to receive a salary hike. State law bans a raise or reduction in an elected official's pay during the term.

Chertoff now is winding up his first term. He was named without opposition at the Nov. 2 election for another six-year term.

The judge pointed out that

Crash Takes Place After Two Vehicles Figure In Collision

A 60-year-old Stratton woman was in "critical" condition today at City Hospital as a result of a spectacular crash Monday night on the four-lane stretch of the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd. just inside the city limits in which a Toronto man and wife also were injured.

Mrs. Minnie Wright of Post Office Box 11, Stratton, was a passenger in a 1963 model car operated by Donald E. Martin, 22, of 408 N. 4th St., Toronto, which was involved in a collision with another auto and then plunged diagonally off the highway, crashing into a large stone on the cliff overlooking the right-of-way, police said.

MARTIN AND his wife, Mrs. Betty Martin, 21, both were listed in "fair" condition today at the hospital.

Martin suffered a possible fracture of the left ankle and contusions of the abdomen and chin. His wife suffered lacerations of the forehead and right knee and possible fractures of the pelvis and right ankle, officers said.

Martin's compact car, traveling at an estimated 50 miles an hour, hit the boulder with such force that the motor was torn from its mountings and shoved through the firewall toward the front seat, officers said.

Patrolman L. E. Richard, who investigated, said the study of the crash still is continuing. It was timed at 6:44 p.m.

Before striking the embankment, Martin's car was involved in a collision with a 1962 four-door sedan driven by Harry R. Larkins, 39, of Toronto R. D. 2, officers said. Both autos were eastbound at approximately 55 miles an hour, police said.

Larkins told police both he and Martin passed two other eastbound autos. Then Larkins said he pulled back into the right-hand lane of the highway when Martin's car hit the left

Donald Elliott To Seek Ohio Senate Seat

LISBON — Donald W. Elliott, a Rogers attorney, Monday afternoon announced his candidacy on the Republican ticket for the 30th District state senatorial post in the May 1966 primary.

Elliott is president of the Ohio Tuberculosis and Health Association. He also is a member and a past president of the Columbiana County Board of Education.

He is married and the father of six daughters.

Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison and eastern Tuscarawas counties will comprise the 30th Senatorial District under the reapportionment plan due to become effective next year.

Columbiana is now included in the 20th-22nd District and is represented by Sen. Edmund Sargus.

Two Waive Hearing In Bank Robbery Plot

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two men charged with attempted burglary of a bank at Barnesville waived preliminary hearing Monday before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Freedman.

They are Richard Cline, 42, of Zanesville and formerly of Massillon, and Ollis B. Gooden, 55, of Cambridge.

Fire Levels Barn Near Hookstown

A spectacular fire leveled a huge barn owned by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Norman of Hookstown early this morning.

The South Side Volunteer Fire Department received a call to the Norman farm, located about one-quarter of a mile out of Hookstown on the Hill Rd., about 8 o'clock.

THE BLAZE was raging out of control when firemen reached the scene and they confined their efforts to saving the farm house, another barn and a garage.

Fire chief Donald C. Morgan said the flames got a good start since the Normans are on vacation in Florida and nobody discovered the fire until 8. "There was nothing we could do but keep it from spreading. There was a strong wind, but fortunately it was

Woomer Criticizes Ohio Officials

School Board Airs Program Again; State Promises Fund Aid If Needed

Officials of the State Department of Education have guaranteed their cooperation to obtain additional funds, if needed, for the $4.3 million building program to meet the obligation to residents of the city school district, but no additional local bond issue to provide funds will be submitted, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the Board of Education Monday night in reporting on a meeting last week in Columbus to discuss the stalled program to erect a senior high school and three elementary buildings.

After hearing Blair's report and criticism of the actions of the state officials by John R. Woomer, a board member and contractor, the board unanimously approved a resolution rejecting bids submitted Oct. 14 for construction of the East End and LaCroft elementary schools.

THE REJECTION was a mere formality after T. V. Utterbach, chief of the building section, recommended to the board Nov. 3 that it reject all bids because they exceeded the state's estimates by $261,029. The low bids totaled $1,360,814.

In the program approved in May 1964 by the State Board of Education when it authorized a state loan of $990,958, State Supt. E. E. Holt estimated the 25-room East End building and the 23-room LaCroft school could be constructed at a cost totaling $1,282,606, including site improvements, sewage and water facilities. That figure was only $78,235 under the actual bids.

The local board was required to take formal action, but it had no choice since its agreement to purchase classroom facilities provides that all decisions are subject to the approval of the State Department of Education.

Hancock's Board Extends Its School Lunch System

The school lunch program, already in operation at Weir High School and Oak Glen, has been extended to the Pughtown, Broadview and Liberty schools and will be started in December at the Dunbar, Marlin and Cove Schools, it was announced during the meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education Monday night.

All schools will be served after the first of the year, Supt. Robert H. Hall said.

Lunch program employees were hired yesterday as follows: Broadview, Mrs. Sylvia Fisher, Mrs. Evelyn Hunter and Mrs. Julia Velegol; Liberty, Mrs. Elizabeth Monseu, Mrs. Margie Sample and Mrs. Rosena Van Horn; Weir High, Mrs. Vivian Crain, Mrs. Jean Domolewicz, Mrs. Sophie Koper, Mrs. Marilyn Hinchey and James L. Brock.

Lawrence Zeigler is county food program supervisor.

Hall said purchase of non-time meals by the children is optional. The percentage of participation in the program is high in the elementary grades, but only about 50 per cent in Weir High School, he added. Hall said some children bring their own meals, while others go home for lunch.

The cost per school meal is 30 cents for grade school children, 35 cents for high school students and 50 cents for teachers. Hall said it is possible to give such low rates because of government aid.

Mrs. Jennie A. Borza of Weirton was employed as a nurse for the school system at a salary of $400 a month. She will work with Mrs. Alva Logston of Newell.

The employment of a second health nurse, Hall said, was necessitated by expanded services, including the field of mental retardation.

Renewal of a phase of fire insurance coverage amounting to $6,029,000 extending from Jan. 1, 1966, for a three-year period was approved. Total

D. Darling, assistant superintendent of public instruction, and Utterbach, Blair said local officials were assured the state officials will cooperate in striving to get additional funds.

In order to obtain additional funds if required, it might be necessary to appear before the State Controlling Board to seek release of additional money from a $250 million state bond issue approved by voters in November 1963 when they authorized continuance of a penny cigarette tax.

Blair emphasized that no more local bond issues will be necessary to provide building funds, explaining the district at present is bonded to the limit of its indebtedness and has entered into an agreement with the state to purchase a definite number of classrooms.

School districts are permitted to bond themselves up to 9 per cent.

Vatican Council Snubs Bid To Denounce Reds

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican Ecumenical Council today rebuffed a conservative demand that it denounce communism. Then it approved a strong statement against racial discrimination and accepted a declaration on birth control.

The three votes were on sections of the council's modern world problems schema, now under scrutiny in the assembly in St. Peter's Basilica.

Board Grants Contract For Vote Supplies

The Columbiana County Election Board today awarded a contract to the Columbus Blank Book Co. to furnish precinct supplies for the special election Dec. 14 on two tax levies in the Southern Local School District.

The Columbus firm will furnish poll books, poll lists, cards of instruction and other supplies for the 12 of the 13 precincts in Columbiana County, Frank R. O'Hanlon, director of elections, said.

The 13th polling place is the Brush Creek precinct in Jefferson County and it will be up to the Jefferson County election board to order supplies for it, although Columbiana County will furnish the ballots and the result will be reported to the local board, O'Hanlon said.

The county board also has officially notified the Jefferson County board of the special election in the school district to vote on a new 3-mill levy and renewal of a 1.8 mill levy. Both for current expenses, they will run for five years, if approved.

The 12 precincts in Columbiana County include East, Northwest and Southwest precincts of Yellow Creek Township, all four precincts in Salineville and lone precincts in Center, Franklin, Madison, Wayne and Washington Townships, O'Hanlon said.

At the request of the Southern Local board and to reduce the cost of the election, the election board will use its "economy" plan, with four instead of six workers in each precinct. They will be paid $12 for the day instead of $16, O'Hanlon continued.

Precinct officials have been instructed to report the result by phone immediately after the count has been completed and then return the ballots and supplies to the election board's office here.

Presiding judges have been told to pick up the supplies at the board's office here between 9 and 11 a. m. on Saturday, Dec. 11.

At Council Meeting

Longevity Wage Asked By Police

Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29 asked Council Monday night to provide longevity pay for officers that would mean wage boosts of $10 to $40 monthly.

Capt. Robert Pyle and Patrolman Orin C. Smith appeared before Council in a caucus session to ask the new system. They presented a letter from Chief A. J. Radeschi approving the request, which they estimated would cost the city $3,240 more annually.

THE OFFICERS asked these staggered longevity pay increments: 5-10 years' service, $10 monthly; 10-15 years, $20; 15-20 years, $30; and over 20 years, $40.

Council agreed to consider the FOP request. It's a continuation of wage negotiations early last summer which ended in a general pay boost for most of the city's workers. After the raise was granted, Council agreed to meet later with various departments to discuss so-called "fringe" benefits.

Councilman Robert W. Sample, chairman of the finance committee, said Council will confer with members of the fire department in early December.

He said the fact Council conferred first with the police representatives did not mean it was showing preference for the FOP. The meeting with fire department representatives already had been set for December as a result of a letter sent to Council several weeks ago by Local 24, International Association of Firefighters, he said.

IN ANOTHER police department personnel question, Chief Radeschi sent Council a letter asking establishment of a fourth lieutenant's rank and creation of a new "administrative and staff services division" in the department.

The change would cost the city only $420 more annually for salaries, the chief said. He explained that he was not seeking a boost in the overall number on the force, but legislation that would allow promotion of a patrolman to lieutenant's rank.

Referring to the proposed new division, he wrote: "In it should be centralized the responsibility for many activities presently not handled adequately or not at all and which are vital to the successful development of this or any department."

"The officer assigned to this division would perform many duties and would personally act as personnel, training, safety and public information officer."

"Unit duties and responsibilities also would include planning and research, crime and procedure control, drafting of rules and regulations, maintenance of personnel records, applicant investigations, internal security, criminal intelligence, processing of certain types of citizens' complaints, staff assistance to the chief in personnel matters and the development of a formal program of awards and commendations."

Council referred the chief's letter to the finance and ordinance committees.

IN OTHER business, Council approved legislation altering the legal description of one of several tracts along E. 3rd St. which it authorized the city to purchase several weeks ago for enlargement of the Ceramic Parking Lot.

The change has the effect of cutting off a four-foot strip of property along Church Alley from a tract which the city will purchase from Robert Johnson. Solicitor Joseph Cooper said acquisition of the narrow strip would have "destroyed the resale value" of abutting land which Johnson owns, but will not have any adverse effect on the parking lot operation.

Council also approved an ordinance authorizing transfer of a tract of Bloomfield ground owned by the incinerator department for use in the public park system.

Councilman Norman Bucher

said the transfer "is another step toward creation of more ball parks" in the St. Clair Ave. tract now used as a sanitary landfill. Councilman William Davis said Donald E. Smith, an attorney, and Harold (Bus) Cartwright of the engineer's office "have done a lot of work on this project." He said heavy equipment operators may volunteer to level the tract without charge.

COUNCILMAN James Cunningham said he is opposed to establishment of three-lane traffic on St. Clair Ave. and feels that parking should be allowed on the west side of the new stretch.

"It was not built to be a 'superhighway,'" he said. "That is a residential area. I feel it is our duty to safeguard the residents, especially the children. As far as I am concerned they can use the west side for parking."

The city already has erected no parking signs on the east side of the stretch, but no controls have been established on the west side. An agreement with the Bureau of Public Roads calls for parking on the west side except during the morning and evening rush hours, when all three lanes of the road would be utilized.

Ralph Musuraca of St. Clair Ave. also appeared before Council to discuss the parking question. He said there are "hazards" in allowing parking on a 36-foot highway and pointed out he was one of a group which advocated the width of the new pavement be limited to 24 feet. Adequate signs and markings must be placed to warn motorists of any parking regulations which are established, he said.

Safety Service Director Robert Vodrey was asked again by Council if the administration plans to permit so-called "wrong way parking" on hillside streets during wintry weather.

VODREY READ Council a section of the state code which requires vehicles parked at a curb must face in the same direction as traffic is moving in the adjoining lane.

President Floyd Murray asked if the state law could take precedence over a city ordinance. Vodrey said he was not certain, so councilmen said they will obtain a legal opinion from Cooper before proceeding.

It was the custom in the past for the administration to lift enforcement of the "wrong way parking" ordinance for a minimum of 90 days each winter. In that way, residents of hillside streets could park their autos headed downgrade, allowing them to pull away from the curb more easily in slippery weather.

Vodrey also asked Council if it feels signs warning motorists of parking bans during operation of the city's mechanical sweeper should be removed for the winter — when the sweeper does not operate — or left in place.

Queried by Council, he said there is no adequate way of covering the signs all winter so that motorists would not be confused. He said removal and replacing of the signs requires about four days' labor by the street department.

The sweeper generally does not operate during snowy or extremely cold weather, but if the signs are left in place motorists might be ticketed regardless, councilmen said.

Council asked Vodrey and the street committee to confer on the question and agree on a solution.

VODREY TOLD Council he has received a letter from the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. advising a track supervisor will confer with him on the need for work on a railway spur track which crosses Harvey Ave. about midway between Elizabeth St. and the state line. Councilman Donald Smith complained several weeks ago on the rough condition of the crossing.

Murray pointed out that an ordinance now on the books forbids children under 18 from entering bowling alleys unless accompanied by a parent. The ordinance is not realistic because many youngsters bowl, Murray said.

"There even is a high school bowling league now," he commented.

His suggestion for amending the age limit was referred to the ordinance committee for investigation.

Council approved a suggestion by Councilman Donald Hancock to invite all council members-elect to attend the caucus and regular session of Dec. 20 to help familiarize themselves with duties they will assume Jan. 1. The Dec. 20 session will be the last regular meeting of the biennium.

Cunningham reported the street committee still is considering a suggestion for closing of a short stretch of Farmers Alley south of E. 3rd St. But he said the committee previously decided against a suggestion to vacate the alley. In a vacation proceeding, the land reverts to the property-owners on either side.

TWO BILLS against the city were referred to the claims committee. Harry E. Early of 1830 Smithfield St. asked $44.22 for damage which he said occurred to his car Oct. 24 on Smithfield St. when it hit a water shut-off valve housing Kenneth Farrish of Chester Ave. filed a claim for $28.54, alleging his auto was damaged on a manhole cover on Minerva St. Oct. 25.

S. A. Thomas of 1711 Globe St. wrote a letter asking the status of a claim he filed for $62, alleging his auto was damaged May 29 on a rough street. The letter was referred to the claims committee.

Davis, as Fourth Ward councilman, was asked to investigate a notice from the State Liquor Control Department advising that Pat Jobe has applied for a beer carry-out permit for premises at 1717 Lisbon St. Under a newly enacted state law, municipal lawmaking bodies are asked to indicate if they have objections to liquor permit applications.

3 New Members Are Enrolled By Wellsville Legion

Three new members were accepted by Wellsville American Legion Post 70 during a meeting Monday night.

They are Claude W. Ruckman, Andy Novak and John J. Smith.

Sam Maylone, commander, presided. He reported 75 attended the Veterans Day banquet, Francis House, chairman, said the 1966 membership quota has been reached.

Jerome Gitschier said a Thanksgiving dance will be held Saturday at 10 p. m. Jack Frye, a magician, will present a floor show.

Gitschier reported all tickets have been sold for the second section reserved by the post for the Steeler-Brown football game Nov. 28 at Pittsburgh.

Get-well cards were signed for Mark Barlow and William Call, patients at City Hospital. George Wilkins, chaplain, reported on visitations.

A memorial tribute was paid the late Claude Weekly. The post will conduct services to night at 7:30 at the MacLean Funeral Home for Mr. Weekly. Wilkins gave the opening and closing prayers. The executive committee met following regular business.

Local Motorist Has 2 Accidents Within 5 Minutes

A city motorist involved in two accidents within five minutes Monday afternoon was cited on two charges, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said Donald C. Russell, 40, of 120 E. 3rd St. was arrested for leaving the scene of an accident and unsafe operation as a result of the mishaps.

The first was 2:10 p. m. on Route 7 at the junction with Route 152. Russell, headed north, rammed into the rear of another car operated by William J. Bussington, 50, of Eldersville, Pa. Bussington had halted behind traffic.

Russell left the scene without giving the proper information, officers said. Five minutes later he was involved in another collision two and three-tenths miles north of the first.

Russell started to make a right turn onto a side road and hit the left front of a dump truck operated by Clark K. Geer of Annesly Rd., Glenmoor, officers said.

No one was injured in either. Russell is slated to receive a hearing Nov. 23 in Jefferson County Court at Toronto.

Two Autos Involved In Minor Crash Here

A collision Monday morning on E. 4th St. near Cherry Alley caused minor damage to two autos, police reported.

The crash involved cars operated by Ronald A. Seevers, 21, of 412 Monroe St. and John C. Frederick, 39, of 1711 Holliday St., both headed east.

Seevers, driving a 1959 auto owned by Edward K. Carnes, 342 Kinsey Ave., said he was pulling from a parking space, while Frederick said he was passing an auto halted in the line of traffic when the crash occurred.

Officers Jail Injured Man On 3 Charges

Police jailed a Cleveland man on three charges after he was injured in a fall down a fire escape early this morning and then abused doctors and nurses at the City Hospital emergency room, where he was taken for treatment.

W. H. Kerkes was charged with intoxication, using profane and indecent language and abusing a police officer as an aftermath of the incident in which he was hurt at 3:04 a. m. when he tumbled down the last few steps of a fire escape outside the Travelers Hotel.

As part of the same incident, Kerkes also assaulted Paul Bulger, the night desk clerk at the hotel, breaking his glasses, but the hotel employee was not injured seriously, officers said.

Kerkes was released after treatment at the hospital for lacerations above the left eye brow and nose and abrasions of the face and nose. Lt. William E. McDaniel said a nurse who was helping attend the injured man commented his language was the foulest and most abusive she ever had heard.

Patrolman Ronald J. Brookes was dispatched to investigate after Bulger reported the hotel incident to police. Bulger told the officer Kerkes entered the lobby and asked for the key to his room. He was told his roommate already was in bed and he apparently had the key, Bulger said. Kerkes ascended the steps and a short time later Bulger heard a "thumping" noise which he believed was coming from upstairs.

Bulger investigated, but could not find the source of the noise. As he returned to the lobby and started outside to check on the noise, officers said. It was then the Cleveland allegedly struck Bulger.

The officer said he found Kerkes "bleeding heavily" from the facial wounds. He said he found a pool of blood at the foot of the fire escape on the west side of the building. Brookes said Kerkes apparently attempted to leave the building by the fire escape and fell down the last few steps.

"You look as though you had gone through a meat-grinder," Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented when Kerkes confronted him today. Kerkes pleaded guilty to all three charges. He was fined $10 and costs each on the charges of intoxication and profane language. The judge decreed a fine of $50 on the charge of abusing a police officer, but suspended $25 on condition Kerkes apologizes to Officer Brookes and pays for the damage to Bulger's spectacles.

Economy In The Abstract

Every budget-watcher in the country is wondering what the war in Viet Nam will do to the Johnson administration's prudence image.

The President scored heavily at the outset of his consensus campaign with promises to squeeze out unnecessary spending. His public image as a budget shrinker has helped him significantly in a place where most Democratic politicians would have despaired of finding support—the conservative wing.

But Mr. Johnson's next budget will shoot far over the $100 billion that has been his official ceiling. Its rise will be due to diverse factors, but among them will be, of course, an incredibly costly war fought 9,000 miles from the United States.

There is no possibility that the cost can be hidden inside even an expanded Defense Department budget. But the possibility that the cost can be minimized has caused another round to begin in Defense Secretary McNamara's long-running fight with local beneficiaries of federal spending.

Scores of congressional districts soon will be confronted with announcements of military bases about to be closed. The local reaction will be automatic.

It will be charged that the Defense Department is delivering a near-fatal blow to the area where the about-to-be-closed base has been pumping life blood into the local economy.

Secretary McNamara will be accused of heartlessly sacrificing the district's well-being to some fool notion about saving the Republic by saving money, when everybody knows the way to save the Republic is to spend money—the other fellow's.

It will have been proved once more that economy in the abstract is dandy but in the concrete is painful. All money in this country should be saved at the other fellow's expense. No doubt about it. It's the only painless way.

They Don't Love Us Either

Secretary of State Rusk is leading an American delegation to Rio de Janeiro this week for the opening of the Second International Conference of Foreign Ministers.

This is so Latin American ministers can tell one another under the auspices of the Organization of American States what they think of the United States. Their opinions will not be flattering.

Anti-Americanism is a way of life in Latin America. Even the countries that try to get along with the United States have nothing good to say about it.

These countries live in perpetual fear of U.S. intervention. A generation of noble talk about good neighborliness has done little or nothing to dispel the fear. On the contrary, it was rekindled by the takeover in the Dominican Republic last spring, which confirmed what Latin America always has believed to be true about Washington—that its Good Neighbor policy did not exclude intervention; that it only promised nonintervention up to a point, the point to be determined by Washington.

Even the Alliance for Progress, which was supposed to elevate living standards in Latin America, has been attacked as a scheme to protect U.S. investments in Latin America.

As if the chronic mistrust weren't bad enough, acute mistrust was sparked when the U.S. House of Representatives gave lopsided approval in September to a resolution sanctioning unilateral intervention by any government in the Western Hemisphere to block "international communism."

This clinched the proposition for Latin American governments.

Reassurance For Gen. Ike

Dwight D. Eisenhower can't be helped by reassurance in his present circumstances. Yet, one note of reassurance is being struck with significant frequency as his countrymen wait on news about Gen. Ike's latest brush with what his doctors call "heart insufficiency."

Ike and his fellow Americans have been through a lot together. They have no secrets from each other. He knows everything there is to know about them, and they know everything they need to know about him.

They know, for instance, that critics have not been kind about his years in the presidency, just as previously they had not been kind about his years as supreme Allied commander in Europe in World War II. But they know something else.

The critics who have gone to work on the general are of the same ilk always busy when the stature of great men is being determined. They put on a standard performance.

They stand at a safe distance, where they stand for all their handiwork, and fire at will. Sometimes they make so much noise it seems as if their target must be shattered completely.

But if the target is intact when the critics have finished the volley, it is evident to all onlookers that he has survived the test with honor. The great man becomes the greater for having withstood criticism.

In truth, no man can be judged great or even near-great until he has survived this ultimate proof of stature beyond that of ordinary men.

Dwight D. Eisenhower has withstood the test. His countrymen hope his heart will withstand the test it is undergoing, too.

... And All The Ships At Sea!

There now must be a searching inquiry into the disaster that sank the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle.

It will be parallel to searching inquiries into recent airplane disasters. Before these inquiries have run their course, other inquiries will be getting under way as other unforeseen accidents occur.

The most useful information that could be compiled, to show the cause and cure of accidents, is not available. With rare exceptions, no information ever is assembled about accidents averted before they happened.

No one finds out how they were averted, how the danger was discovered in time, who and what were at fault. This information would be infinitely more useful than piecemeal information gathered after the event from survivors and witnesses.

For every ship that sinks because something goes wrong, for every plane that crashes, for every train that is wrecked—and for every auto involved in an accident—many other ships, planes, trains and autos are kept out of danger by something done or not done in time to avert trouble.

Unfortunately, no one hears about all the little fires that were put out before they turned into big fires, hazards that were sidestepped, stitches in time, the foreboding that saved trouble, the routine maintenance check that revealed what could have been a tragic malfunction.

By the time an accident happens, it's too late to keep it from becoming a tragedy and usually too late even to learn what made it happen.

What needs to be known is how other ships averted disasters at sea, how other planes stayed out of trouble, how other situations that could have been disastrous were kept from producing disasters.

Lifetime In A Trance

My heart was full when I read about a psychology instructor in Dearborn, Mich., who couldn't bring an 18-year-old girl student out of a trance.

The same thing happened to me.

I was younger than the 18-year-old girl but old enough to know better.

But I had learned at mother's knee always to be courteous to strangers older than I was.

The stranger who entranced me was old enough to be my father. I do remember that much about him but not much else.

He fixated me with kindness and consideration. He was the first person ever to skip opening remarks about my eyeglasses, or the fact I was skinny.

This may have been because he wore eyeglasses and was skinny. I don't know.

Before I could squirm out of it, this mental wizard had convinced me I could do anything he wanted me to.

On his say-so I put on a football suit and went through the motions of being a football player.

Later, I put on a pair of short pants and a pair of spiked shoes and went through the motions of being a runner.

He even had me caving around in a basketball suit at one time, but the trance was not deep enough to handle that test. I never did play basketball. They made me take off my glasses, and without them I could not see the basketball.

I could not see the football either. Nor the finish line in a race, or the white lines that marked the lanes on the track. But this voodooist had me so completely pixed that I didn't need to see them. I just barged ahead.

He had me under his spell.

He never released me.

That was the funny thing about it. I have lived all my life in a trance I was put into when I was a teen-ager.

By Truman Twill

As recently as last summer, I scrambled up a mountainside on a trail that would have tested the agility of a goat. I wasn't even dressed for the occasion. I was wearing ordinary street shoes and street clothes.

When I get caught in the rain, I still sprint for shelter, running tippy-toe like a gazelle. At my age!

I have no way of knowing what happened to the trance-maker. He went away somewhere and left me running.

The psychology instructor in Dearborn panicked when he realized he couldn't undo his spell-casting. He sought professional help.

Please, won't someone snap me out of this illusion I've been in all my life and fix it up so a skinny fellow who wears glasses won't go on acting as if he had the strength of 10, the vision of a hawk and the resilience of a never-say-die playboy?

Odd Facts

World population during the past year increased by 65 million and will increase by that many again this year — enough new people every year to populate a nation the size of West Germany or the United Kingdom. There are now 3,282,000,000 people on the globe. Fastest-growing area in the world is Latin America.

A recent study of Bedouins, the desert Arabs of Asia and Africa, revealed that they have no heart or weight problems. And one reason for this could be traced to their diet, which is mainly unleavened bread and sour milk from sheep, goats, camels and donkeys.

Hippocrates, the ancient Greek physician known as "The Father of Medicine," is also credited with being the first ophthalmologist, a specialist in eye diseases. His recommended treatment for such ailments was restricted diet and hot foot baths.

Well-Not Everybody!

Organizers Turn To 'The Poor'

By Victor Riesel

As Walter Reuther sees it, there are 35 million have-nots, low income, no-income folks. They are organized. He would organize them.

He and such men as the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., and Jim Patton, the farmers' union president, who are gathering around him would reach into every street, every community, of every city where there are "the poor" and lead them until they can be trained to lead themselves for "the Crusade."

It's not just for tomorrow but for 15 years of tomorrows. And where there are thousands of tiny units of semi-organized poor, Reuther and the Citizens' Crusade Against Poverty, of which he is national chairman, would put out lines to them. At first there would be contact with 2,000 to 3,000 of the unaffiliated cadres which do not know of each other.

Then, when these have been contacted, thousands of other tiny groupings would be drawn together until there is one mass network across the land.

NOTHING AS MASSIVE, nothing as daring, nothing as challenging to the "establishment" ever has been attempted.

While the "National Programs and Policies" Commission of Reuther's "Crusade" will be directed by farm labor leader Patton, the propaganda commission will be guided by Rev. King.

No minor task this in the onslaught. Rev. King's assignment will be the telling of the battle story over television networks, radio broadcasts and through vast quantities of books and pamphlets.

And what is this story of battle, soon to be outlined when the Rev. Mr. King meets with Reuther and the Crusade's executive director, Richard Boone, in its national headquarters the question precisely the other day.

"Big question is whether we will play an Alinsky approach or be nice guys," said Boone.

THIS IS IN JARGON. It's a reference to Saul Alinsky, the direct actionist of the old "Back to the Yards" movement in turbulent slaughterhouse days in Chicago. Alinsky now roams the land training clergymen for "social surgery."

He is for hire by those who want to hit the streets in sociological conflict. He loathes the Communists. He detests most liberals. He goes only where his social revolutionary talents, his organizational techniques are wanted.

These he hurls against the established order, the city halls, the school systems, the public utilities. He fights to win for those who hire him to direct the battle for the "poor."

He is a one-man "Have-Not, Inc." His tactic is to pick an issue — integration, schooling, badly lighted streets, or slum housing—and then attack the "establishment" on that issue.

Thus, when Dick Boone says the Reuther Citizens' Crusade may play it the Alinsky way, he means the direct attack in waves of demonstrations. When Boone says they may play it as "nice guys," he refers to tactics in cities where the "have - nots" and their spokesman find friends in city halls or in the establishment or in the "many establishments, since there are more than one in a community."

"OUR POSITION," says Boone, "is really pragmatic. People we train must be able to operate on a conflict basis or on a less overt strategy. It will depend on the establishment."

Eventually, there will be training centers for thousands in the big cities—New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Washington. And they will have counterparts in the West. At first there will be one center in the East and another out towards the West Coast.

To these centers will come men and women out of the Peace Corps, or the militant student bodies, or perhaps from some unions. They will be trained to take both approaches—Alinsky or the way of suasion.

After months in the training center, they will go out to intern in some program or operation of the poor in the field. Then they come back to the training center for the final wrap-up sessions.

SOME WILL BE contracted out to sponsors in the communities. The sponsors in turn would assign the trainees to work with the "poor" and train them to participate in the administration of the government's poverty program, and in political action and in unionism rank and file activity as well.

Other trainees will be on salary for 18 months, working directly for the Citizens' Crusade. At first the money will come from a million dollar fund supplied by Reuther's auto union. Then the Crusade hopes to interest foundations. Thus there will be no shortage of money for the young recruits.

If these trainees succeed, they will change the sociological and political, and even the trade union contours of this land.

Two Rhodesias

One prime potentiality of trouble in Southern Rhodesia's breakaway from Britain lies in the other Rhodesia — Northern Rhodesia, now known as the Republic of Zambia.

In Northern Rhodesia, African responsibility was stressed, not suppressed, as it always has been in Southern Rhodesia. Africans now administer the country. They look upon fellow Africans in Southern Rhodesia as their brothers — allies in the age-old struggle against the whites.

More than that, they look upon Africans in all white-dominated countries as their blood brothers. This includes the Republic of South Africa, where the full significance of white domination has been characterized by systematic government denigration.

The possibility of African revolt is, of course, the reason why Britain has taken such a stiff stand against Southern Rhodesia's independence. It could be the fuse that would set off an African explosion against not only domination by whites but against their presence in Africa.

Byrd's Impact

By David Lawrence

He Had Courage, Integrity

Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is gone from the Senate of the United States but the lesson which his career teaches has an enduring significance for he has manifested courage and integrity amid the hypocrisies of political life today.

There are all sorts of definitions of conservatism being publicized nowadays but most of them do not fit Harry Byrd. Nor can he be described by many of the other "isms" and phrases which are being currently used to describe persons who do not believe in misapplying other people's money to gain even temporarily the voting support of selfish groups.

Simply stated, the outgoing senator has been unequivocally the champion of common honesty in government and of a public servant's obligation to spend taxpayers' money and borrowed funds with the same frugality as if it were his own private income.

Harry Byrd was known countrywide as a progressive when he became governor of Virginia in 1926. He put through the State Legislature the nation's first anti-lynching law and there hasn't been a lynching since in Virginia. He undertook a major highway - building program and put it on a pay-as-you-go basis. He reorganized the state government by consolidating about 100 agencies into 12 departments.

GOV. BYRD came to the United States Senate on March 4, 1933 — the dismal day when all the banks throughout the country were ordered closed indefinitely. He had supported Franklin D. Roosevelt because of the pledge in the Democratic party's 1932 platform that federal expenses would be cut at least 25 per cent.

It was over this issue that he later had differences with the administration but he always felt he was one of the original New Dealers and that it was not he but others who had strayed from the party platform.

Why was Sen. Byrd so absorbed in the subject of sound fiscal policy? The fact is he was frustrated as a young man due to the financial difficulties of his parents and he couldn't afford to go to college. He took over, at the age of 15, the weekly newspaper established by his family which had been plunged into bankruptcy. As he gradually met with success, he bought a tract of land and has since become one of the largest growers of apples in the world.

What Harry Byrd learned in trying to make ends meet produced an indelible impression on his mind, as so often happens with self-made men. It unquestionably had a lasting effect on the way he dealt with issues in his public career in later years.

ABOVE ALL, Harry Byrd followed the commands of an ever-present conscience, irrespective of the temptations of politics. He never voted on any bill that could affect his own property. He didn't accept a cent of federal money for his farming operations and once had a technical amendment inserted in a law that would disqualify him from benefiting from a measure affecting certain types of securities he held. He regarded public office as a sacred responsibility — a trusteeship which required an unwavering fidelity to the cause of fiscal as well as social responsibility.

Many of the theorists of today have never known what it means to borrow money from a bank or accept capital from investors to start and carry on a business and then to meet these obligations.

Sen. Byrd thought of public funds in the same way, because he never forgot that individual citizens struggling for a livelihood paid out their hard-earned money in taxes every year with a blind faith that the governmental authorities would deal honestly with the citizens' earnings.

HARRY BYRD was brought up in the school of practical experience — not just theory. He has always had the ideals of a progressive but the common sense of a conservative who knows that, however honestly a man may operate his business, he is no less a bankrupt if he fails to pay back what he owes. The same concept was applied by Sen. Byrd to the fundamentals of government finance.

Anybody who, like the Virginia senator, today dissents from the whimsical doctrines of expediency and insists instead on constitutional methods is being called a negativist. The speeches of Sen. Byrd will long be remembered as a series of warnings on the biggest single issue that faces the American people today — how to keep the government from going "bankrupt."

Through The Years

Big Yule Tree $2,000 Damages Again Erected Caused At Wild Party In Parma

A 30-foot community Christmas tree was erected Monday in the Diamond as the focal point of the holiday street decorations erected by the Christmas activities committee of the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

The tree, whose limb span seemed to match or exceed its height, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kontner of Negley. Area residents have donated trees for the Diamond display for the last several years.

It was cut by Tom Dubberly of Calcutta and hauled to the city on a truck donated by Mike Pusateri after a crane from the Central Neon Sign Co. loaded the big pins on the truck.

The tree was erected in the Diamond by a line crew from the Ohio Power Co. with the aid of employees of the D. M. Ogilvie & Co., Frank Crook Co. and WOHL.

City police and street department employees also cooperated in the job.

The tree will be strung with lights by the Sayre Electric Co. and will be illuminated for the first time at the start of the annual Yule parade on Nov. 26.

Harold Allison and William Kozel Jr. are in charge of the tree arrangements.

Kilgallen Death Cause Disclosed

NEW YORK (AP) — An assistant medical examiner reports that a moderate mixture of alcohol and barbiturates caused the death of Dorothy Kilgallen, 52, Broadway columnist and television panelist.

Dr. James Luke said in his report Monday that the circumstances of death were "indecisive" and he did not rule on whether the death was accidental or suicide.

Miss Kilgallen was found dead in bed in her apartment a week ago Monday. A preliminary autopsy ruled out a heart attack but did not reveal the cause of death.

After further tests, Luke said Miss Kilgallen died of "acute ethanol (alcohol) and barbiturate intoxication." The quantities of alcohol and barbiturates in the bloodstream were not excessive, he said, but the combination caused a fatal "depression on the general nervous system."

Proposal Asks Repeal Of 1799, 1802 Acts

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — State Rep. Russell E. Headlee has introduced legislation that would repeal acts of 1799 and 1802 which made two creeks in Greene County official public highways.

"It's time the creeks quit being highways and go back to being creeks," said Headlee, a Democrat, Monday.

"The Greene County Planning Commission wants to convert these creeks into recreational areas."

Some historians believe that the two creeks—both tributaries of the Monongahela River—became highways because they were being used as canals.

Heart Group's Board Will Meet Thursday

YOUNGSTOWN—Charles Tanner, radio and television sportscaster, will speak at the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Heart Association of Eastern Ohio Thursday night.

Dinner will be served at 7:30 at the Youngstown Club, with a social hour beginning at 6:30.

Dr. Eugene Beach, chairman of the trustees, will preside. Tentative plans for the 1966 Heart Fund will highlight the business session.

Potters Bank, Trust Mails Yule Savings

The Potters Bank and Trust Co. today mailed Christmas savings checks totaling $216,579 to 2,346 customers.

That represents an average of almost $92 per account, approximately $8 more than the 1964 average when 2,448 accounts had Yule savings totaling $200,729.

Must Cut Subsidiaries

NEW YORK (AP)—The Borden Co. has been given six more months to dispose of six subsidiaries as ordered by the Federal Trade Commission. The FTC issued the order in April 1964, with an 18-month deadline, for Borden to sell eight subsidiaries but it has found FTC-approved buyers for only two, including Farmers Dairy Management, Inc., Hamilton, Ohio.

ring-a-ding-dong house party that cost $2,000 in damages. Then the party goes and parents showed up in court.

"I should have you people charged with neglect," Juvenile Court Judge Walter G. Whit-latch told the parents of a 17-year-old Parma girl Monday.

The judge was told that the girl pouted because she was taken with the family on a recent hunting trip. She was left home the next time—with these results:

—Every drawer and cabinet from the basement to the attic, including the freezer, was ransacked.

—Three pistols and 6,000 bullets were stolen. One shot ripped through the living room wall.

—One teen-ager was nearly shot during a struggle for the pistol, which belongs to the girl's father.

—Coin collections were stolen and carpets burned by cigarettes.

For an encore, some of the youngsters thought it might be a good idea to conceal the damage by burning the house down, the judge was told.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD DOAN

Ann Sheridan In 'Another World'

Ann Sheridan, red-haired movie star of yesteryear, has decided to try for new fame as a TV soap opera queen.

The Texan-born actress went to work last Thursday as a continuing featured performer in NBC's afternoon serial, "Another World."

The Richard Doan drama originates live from the network's Brooklyn studios. Now 50, the one-time "Oomph Girl" arrived on the "Another World" scene as Katherine Corning, a friend of a friend of Mrs. Liz Matthews, played by Audra Lindley.

THE MUTUAL friend was Helen von Maur, another new character in the series, portrayed by Nancy Douglass, a stage and radio actress ("Portia Faces Life," etc.) who has been away from local thespian circles for 14 years, living in Jamaica.

Miss Sheridan was of the Humphrey Bogart-James Cagney era at Warner Bros., appearing in such films as "Edge of Darkness," "Nora Prentiss" and "Stella." Her last movie was "The Woman and the Hunter," made in Africa in 1956.

She appeared on Broadway in "Odd Man Out" with Scott McKay in 1959, and early the following year McKay's estranged wife charged Miss Sheridan in court with being overly friendly with him.

Of the impending soap opera life, NBC quoted Miss Sheridan as enthusiastic: "I'm going to love it. There's no time to fool around in this medium of television."

L'AFFAIRE: Sammy Davis Jr. is TV's cause celebre of the moment.

Many people, including the central figure, would like to be happy about his suddenly being so much in demand and getting so many TV breaks, but they've got nothing but trouble over it.

ABC is unhappy about sponsors pulling out of its $250,000 Sammy Davis special, booked for Feb. 1, because his new NBC variety hour is taking the edge off it.

NBC is unhappy because ABC won't let Davis, under exclusivity rules, appear on his new series for five weeks after his Jan. 7 debut.

Joe Hamilton, Carol Burnett's producer-husband who has been hired to produce the NBC series, has the difficult task of trying to book big-name stars to appear either as stand-in hosts on the show or, in case ABC relents, to come on as Sammy's guests.

HAMILTON had just moved Carol, himself and their baby to Hollywood to live. Last week he had their furniture moved back to New York, from where the Davis show will originate. In New York last week, he flew back to Hollywood Friday to see if he could get Liz Taylor and Richard Burton to appear on Sammy's premiere.

He was going to try to sign this first show or as a host of the second show.

Harry Belafonte also was being sought.

"Sammy Davis' NBC series will replace 'Convoy' on Friday nights. On ABC, besides his Feb. 1 special, he has taped a childrens show to be shown on Thanksgiving.

IN SHORT

Harry Belafonte either has changed his mind or is misunderstood by his press representative. Contrary to a story issued by his spokesman last week that he will not appear on a CBS-TV special, "The Strolling 20s," which he is producing for the network, he since has informed CBS program boss Mike Dann that he will indeed appear—at least in "an Alfred Hitchcock-type" introductory role.

CBS, unhappy with recent scripts for its "Wild Wild West" series, has shaken up the producing staff of the Old West spy spoof and placed it under command of Philip Leacock and John Mantley, two of the guiding hands for "Gunsmoke."

If reports from London are correct, Orson Welles has let himself in for a TV debut as a singer on a "Wide World of Entertainment" which ABC is taping to sneak-preview next month in the "Shindig" time slots.

Committee Plans Levy Drive For Southern Local

SALINEVILLE — A citizens' committee to conduct a campaign to explain the need for additional Southern Local School District revenue was set up at a public meeting Monday night at the high school.

Jack Hiseox of the Wayne area and Mrs. Lucille Huston of Wellsville R.D. 1 were named co-chairmen of the group, which will promote two proposed levies in a special election Dec. 14.

Thirty attended the meeting at which the need for the proposed 1.8-mill renewal and 3-mill additional levy was discussed.

Charles Allison, president of the board of education, spoke. Plans were discussed for preparing a fact sheet on school finances to be mailed to residents of the district and for other information material.

The committee will meet again Thursday night at 9 at the school, with anyone interested in assisting invited to attend.

Lisbon Clubs Meet, Family Dinner Held

LISBON — The Lewis Kinney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the home of Mrs. Robert A. Williams of the Rollercoaster Rd. Thursday night.

Mrs. Richard Andrus, regent, presided during the business meeting and announced that reservations are to be made now for the annual combined clubs' Christmas dinner party Dec. 8 at the Methodist Church.

The nominating committee named is comprised of Mrs. Charles Lewis, chairman, Mrs. Bennett Taylor Jr. and Mrs. Elaine Hurd.

"A Veteran's Tribute" was presented by Miss Helen Ramsey. Mrs. Frank Tuseck led the discussion "Let's Give Thanks" and Mrs. G. C. Fuhrman told about "Christmas With Dolly Madison."

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas Bruey of El Cajon, Calif. have arrived for a visit with his father, Alfred Bruey of E. Washington St. and other relatives and friends.

A family dinner party in their honor was held Sunday at the home of Col. Bruey's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Eskew and daughter Joyce of Gavers. Another sister, Miss Mary Bruey, of Mrs. Velma Brandt of Ellwood City, Pa., were among those attending.

The TION Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Richard Bosel of Pidgeon Rd., Salem. Thursday night, Mrs. Robert Utterback was a guest.

Prizes were awarded Mrs. Utterback, Mrs. Thurma Black and Mrs. Glenn Adams.

Mrs. Howard Covert of Salem will be hostess Dec. 2.

Mrs. Robert H. Dorrance of E. Chestnut St. returned Sunday from Cleveland, where she had visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Kelly and family.

Mrs. William M. Morgan Sr. of E. Chestnut St. has as her house guest her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Morris of Youngstown.

Mrs. Juanita Stoffel Gets 'Meter Maid' Job

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vordrey today appointed Mrs. Juanita Stoffel of 1716 Wyoming Ave. as a city "Meter Maid," boosting the force to its full strength of four.

Mrs. Stoffel has been working on a temporary basis since the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Petty in late September, the director explained.

Acting on a list furnished by the Civil Service Commission as a result of a recent exam, the director also appointed two women as "extra" members of the "Meter Maid" force to work during absences of the regulars. They are Mrs. Kay Waters of 2214 Harvey Ave. and Mrs. Joan Petty of 826 Fairview St.

Man Is Hospitalized After Assault Charge

SALINEVILLE — A 45-year-old E. Main St. man was in "fair" condition at City Hospital today where he was taken by ambulance Monday night with police escort after citations for assault and battery and resisting arrest.

Pete Owens of E. Main St. was forcibly taken from his home by Police Chief Ray Keister last night after he refused to accompany the officer.

The assault and battery charge was filed by his wife, Rose, earlier in the evening after an incident in the home. Chief Keister subsequently filed the charge of resisting arrest.

Slipping False Teeth Blamed For Arrest On Drunk Driving

A Maplewood man facing Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today on a charge of driving while intoxicated told the court through his counsel that slipping false teeth were responsible, at least in part, for his appearance of insobriety.

Clark B. Kevan of 410 Azalea Ave. offered the explanation after pleading "no contest" through his counsel, George A. Aronson, on the charge filed after a traffic mishap Friday at Walnut and E. 4th Sts.

Judge Chertoff fined Kevan $200 and costs and sentenced him to five days in City Hall, also suspending his operator's permit for 90 days.

The judge raised his eyebrows and shook his head as Aronson offered the explanation for his client's condition after the arrest. The attorney said Kevan "had been having trouble with his teeth" and consumed "a couple of beers."

His faulty diction resulted from the fact one of the plates

Check Counts Set On Friday

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set preliminary hearings Friday morning for two young men accused of issuing fraudulent checks.

The defendants are Rodney Gilkinson, 20, of Substation Rd. and Jacob Davis, 18, of E. 6th St. and Dresden Ave. Advising both men to obtain counsel in the meantime, the court set their appearance bonds at $1,000.

Davis, a native of Florida, is named in an affidavit signed by Mrs. Bernice Redick of Ravine St. and alleging that he "forged a certain instrument purporting to be a check for the payment of money with intent to defraud."

The affidavit alleges the offense occurred on Nov. 6. The charge was signed Monday. Attached to the affidavit were five checks all made payable to Davis and signed with the name "Bernice Redick." Drawn on the Potters Bank and Trust Co., the checks totalled $190.

Gilkinson is named in an affidavit signed by Glenn Gilkinson and alleging that he "uttered and published as true and genuine" a $34 check drawn Nov. 1 on the Potters Bank account of the Valley Leasing Service, Post Office Box 13, Sandyville, W. Va. The check was signed with the name "Kay Gilkinson," the affidavit said. Officers said Glenn Gilkinson is the father of the defendant.

The judge queried Patrolman Charles A. Winters about Gilkinson's record, asserting he recalled the defendant had appeared in the local court previously.

The officer said Gilkinson was indicted by the Grand Jury on another forgery charge and later pleaded guilty and asked probation. The probation investigation has been made, but Common Pleas Court at Lisbon has not disposed of the case, the officer said.

Lawrenceville Aided In Battling Of Blaze

Four men from the Lawrenceville volunteer department were among those who answered the call Monday when fire swept the home of John Stover of Johnsonville.

The Chester department also answered the call. Because of a conflict in reports, the Lawrenceville firemen were not mentioned in yesterday's story. Assistant Capt. Okey Leisure Jr. clarified the matter today.

Rules Listed For Parking And Traffic

Council gave unanimous approval Monday night to an omnibus ordinance lumping together several dozen traffic and parking regulations, consolidating in one piece of legislation a series of controls that had been in effect for years and adding a few new provisions.

Two new sections list additional intersections where stop and "yield" signs will be placed.

The stop signs will be maintained: On Park Blvd. at Park Way and St. Clair Ave.; on Elysian Way at Park Way and Park Blvd.; on Sherwood Ave. at Boring Ln.; on Putnam St. at Michigan Ave., and on Oakland Ave. at Globe St.

The "yield" signs, which require autos to halt on side streets if there is traffic on an intersecting thoroughfare, will be placed on all intersections and exits connecting the Freeway with W. 8th St. via ramps and on Gardendale Ave. at St. Clair Ave.

The legislation also prohibits right turns from Golding St. at its intersection with Drury Ln. and sets up one-way traffic east-bound only on Harker Ave. between Sylvan St. and Central Ave.

It also spells out regulations on parking, most of them in effect for many years. Council had been studying the legislation for months.

The primary intent of the ordinance was to list all the regulations in one piece of legislation and to formalize some rules which had been enforced under temporary orders of Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vordrey or Police Chief A. J. Radeschi.

Big Crowds Attend Circus At Wellsville

A crowd estimated at between 300 and 400 attended the indoor circus held by the Wellsville Hammond Park Commission Monday night at Beacom Memorial gymnasium.

Some 1,200 students attended a matinee yesterday afternoon. The circus included small animal acts and television personalities.

The proceeds will be used to improve and extend water service in Hammond Park.

Gunpowder, first employed in battle in 1346, remained the most deadly military explosive until 1902 when TNT was introduced.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Please inform your readers that when they make out checks, they should start writing the amount as far to the left as possible on the lines provided for this purpose. This also goes for the figures.

People should never start in the middle of the space, because the writing and the figures can easily be added to.

If a space is left, "Sixty dollars only" ($60.00) can have the words "One hundred" written in front of it, and the figure "1" can easily be placed in front of the number "60."

People would help bankers tremendously if they would remember this.

A.H.B.

You just informed 'em. Great idea! Thanks heaps. HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I find that after I fry chicken, pork chops and the like, if I put a little water in the pan, after removing the meat, and let it simmer while we eat dinner, that the frying pan will wash as easily as the plates and other dishes. This also works on pans used in the oven or on top of the stove.

Sure saves a lot of scraping and scrubbing.

MRS. L. W. MAGINNIS.

DEAR HELOISE: We use different color felt pens to mark the tops of new nylon hose.

As one stocking becomes unwearable, it is easy to find its mate by looking at the mark on top (same brand and color from same store isn't necessarily alike, as different dye lots change). With so many colors almost alike, it is difficult to tell the colors apart after washing a time or two.

If you have many pairs of stockings and not enough different colors of felt pens to go around, use different designs, numbers or letters.

In our house there are six girls wearing nylons now, and we have to use the person's initials as well as a color mark to identify the hosiery.

No problems or arguments—if one girl has on another's stockings (can and does happen!), oh boy, the mark is a dead give-away!

READER.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: I like to chew bubble gum, but the bubbles always stuck on my face.

Now I put petroleum jelly around my mouth so the gum doesn't stick any more.

PAULETTE DESAULNIERS.

DEAR HELOISE: If you will put extra bluing in the rinse water for blue nylon and blue terrycloth garments, it will brighten the color, and keep them looking "new blue."

MRS. OLSEN.

DEAR HELOISE: Tell those housewives not to throw away their old draperies without first taking into consideration that some of the material still might be good.

I made the nicest housecoat I've ever had from the good portions of some old drapes. Usually, the only place where nice drapes rot is the portion where the sun shines in through the window. The tops and bottoms are still lovely.

After cutting away the faded parts, I washed and ironed my imitation brocade remnants and just cut away.

A lovely housecoat at no cost. DORIS.

DEAR HELOISE: Many of us use canned milk, and like to take advantage of sales on this item, but find the milk thickens after the unopened cans have been in storage for a while.

Don't despair — simply shake the can vigorously before opening, and the milk will flow freely.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Children Tease To Attract Attention

In most playmate problems we have discussed the child gets along better with older or younger children than those of his own age.

He may win protection from the older children and have his own way with the younger ones. He does not need to compete on equal terms.

Now Dr. Garry Myers and then, however, a mother writes of a boy who is tormented and intimidated by older boys. Often this boy has had few or no playmates of his own age.

But in the following letter a mother from Michigan reported a boy as getting along well with boys of his own age but having difficulty with boys two or three years older than he is.

"My boy, nine, gets along fine with boys his own age; however, he has difficulty with boys who are two and three years older, most of whom are complete strangers. I can't actually prove this but I think my son has trouble keeping his mouth closed when he is around other boys.

I HAVE tried to convince him that he should not attempt to speak or answer older boys, that he should completely ignore older boys. It seems as though most other children have a "chip on their shoulder" and are just looking for an excuse to blow off steam.

Perhaps other boys tease my son because of his name and he yells at them to "shut up" and this starts everything. I don't know how to help my son. I wish I did."

My reply in part: It's my guess that your explanation of your son's problem with the older boys is correct. While this explanation to him and your advice to him seems wise, it is doubtful whether these exhortations will do any good. You and Dad will need to be present in many situations when your son is among older boys. This might not be easy to do.

YOUR PRESENCE may require considerable time, effort and skill, but the problem should challenge you. When you hear him speaking indiscreetly to an older boy, you might be able right then and there to rebuke him or explain why speaking indiscreetly is bad. Having observed specific instances, you might later in private be able to help him see why his ways were unwise.

There must be times when some older boys are in your home or when you and your son are in another home where there are older boys. At such times you should be able to study your son and guide him in more wholesome ways.

Naturally you will observe times when he acted well even under great provocation. These are the times you should celebrate successes with your son.

Dad might be able to do most in this direction.

TAKING your relatives and neighbors and the boy's teacher into your confidence you might win them to help you guide this lad in better ways toward older boys.

Furthermore, from your letter I infer that your son spends considerable time with older boys. Try to contrive ways whereby he will spend less and less time with them and more and more time with his contemporaries.

My bulletins, "Your Child and His Playmates" and "Fathers Are Parents, Too," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Jury's Deadlocked In Boy Murder Trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A jury deadlocked over whether a 15-year-old boy who admittedly kills a man during a robbery should get the death penalty, and the case will have to be retried.

The six-man, six-woman jury in Franklin County Criminal Court gave up Monday night after deliberating from about noon in the first-degree murder trial of Charles Fulton, now 16.

The panel told Judge Robert E. Leach it had found Fulton guilty of a companion charge of armed robbery but had no chance of agreeing on the murder charge.

Fulton, of Columbus, is accused of fatally shooting Richard Vice, 21, during a holdup of a shoe store. Last Jan. 25. Another clerk in the shoe store was badly wounded.

Family Dinner Held By Boy Scout Troop

Twenty-six attended a family dinner of Boy Scout Troop 66 of the First Church of Christ Saturday night at the church.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor, minister of the church, led in the invocation. Guests in addition to Rev. and Mrs. Traylor were parents of the boys, committee men and their wives.

Wilbur Shaffer was chief cook, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heacock.

Following the dinner, awards were presented by Jeff Pederson, Chuckie Simms, Joseph Lawton, Bryon Davis, Allen Shaffer and Donald Heacock. The awards were presented by the scoutmaster, Robert Heacock.

Nurses Will Convene At Youngstown Home

Registered nurses of the Private Section of District 3 will meet tonight at 8 in the class room at the Nurses Home at the North Side Unit of Youngstown Hospital.

Officers will be elected and an increase in private duty fees discussed.

Refreshments will be served. Victoria Shaffer is chairman. Mary Snyder is publicity chairman.

Ohio Cities Compete

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Mount Vernon, Ohio, and a dozen other cities submitted their presentations Monday in the All-America Cities awards sponsored by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine. Ten more candidates were to be heard from at today's session of the annual league conference. Winners will be announced next spring.

Group Fashions Program On McGuffey School Days

A "McGuffey School Days" program in charge of Mrs. Ford S. Ball, chairman, highlighted the meeting of Bethia Southwick Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Friday night. Mrs. D. T. O'Hara of Main St., Wellsville, was the hostess.

Mrs. Ball briefly reviewed McGuffey's life and work as a teacher in the area. Adding to the program was a display arranged by the American Heritage Committee, with Mrs. Clarence G. Green chairman.

It included very early readers, complete sets of old and revised editions, Ray's series of Arithmetic and Algebra used by students of that period, Harvey's English Grammar, slate and pencil used in the early days, pictures, report cards, school records, rewards of merit and school mementos.

Members read favorite selections from older McGuffey readers. Mrs. Alva Dickey commented on the introduction in McGuffey's readers "How to Read," comparing the old method with the present day. The singing of "School Days" concluded the program.

Mrs. George B. Fraser, regent, presided. The pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Robert W. Faulk and the "Stars Spangled Banner" was sung.

Mrs. Ball used Thanksgiving Thoughts for devotions. She read a poem, "The Pilgrim's Prayer" (Irene Stanley).

Mrs. Carolyn Vogel, D.A.R. schools chairman reported two boxes of used clothing sent to the Tamassee School at Tamassee, S. C. Mrs. Ball reported boxes sent to the Indian School at Springfield, S. D. Donations were made to the Kate Duncan Smith School at Grant, Ala., and the Tamassee School for Christmas and the American Indian project fund.

On national defense, Mrs. Dickey discussed the "Achilles Heel," citing vulnerable spots in the United States' defense and pointing to the recent blackout in the east. Notes from out-of-town members were read by Mrs. Helen Wilson.

Lunch was served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. Donald E. Wolfe and Mrs. Wilson. The buffet table centered around a gold turkey and an arrangement of fruits on a lace cloth and gold candles completed the setting. Mrs. Wilson presided at the silver tea service.

The next meeting will be a Christmas dinner Dec. 9 at Platt's Tea Room.

People In News

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., had a bit of a tough time Monday night with 5,000 scuffling, shouting students, but he appeared to win them over.

He was delayed about 10 minutes while non-Communist students knocked down leftist extremists and chased them from the gymnasium. A number of vegetables were thrown at the platform, but Kennedy was not hit.

Kennedy told the students that the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba was "a dark day" for which the Kennedy administration was responsible, that the United States did not overthrow the Brazilian government of Joao Goulart, and that intervention in the Dominican Republic was a mistake.

PARIS (AP)—The French attorney of former Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella said today that proof has been received that Ben Bella still is alive.

Lisbon Area Couple Weds In Ceremonies At Home

The marriage of Mrs. Dorothy Stuba of R.D. 3 and Felix Butch of South Park Ave. was solemnized Friday night at the home of Mrs. William M. Morgan Sr. of E. Chestnut St.

The Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated at the candle-light ceremony before an improvised altar centered by a bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

The bride was attired in an avocado green sheath dress, embellished with gold metallic threading, brown accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Faye Hillberry of R.D. 3, daughter of the bride, wore a turquoise sheath dress, black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Paul Butch of Salem, son of the bridegroom, served as his father's attendant.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for 50 guests, with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Butch as hosts, was held at the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Home of E. Chestnut St. Yellow and white chrysanthemums, including a bouquet gift from Edie Sullivan, centered the buffet table which included a decorated wedding cake.

Among those attending the wedding and reception from out of town were Mrs. William Ward of East Liverpool, daughter-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Donald Wuterick of North Georgetown, Mrs. Lesley Cobb of Deerfield, daughters of the bridegroom.

Following a honeymoon trip to Williamsburg, Va., the newlyweds will reside at the bride's home Lisbon R.D. 3.

A Veterans Day dinner and dance was held by Glenmoor American Legion Post 736 and its Auxiliary Saturday at the post.

The pledge to the flag was led by Comdr. James Foutts. A prayer by Fred Morgan followed.

Foutts then introduced Walter Kimbro, guest speaker.

Trophies were awarded Ed Bowyer and Charles Stewart for the golf tournament held in Alliance.

Bowyer, past commander, was presented a past commander's ring from the post.

John Maola and the committee were in charge of dinner arrangements, with the assistance of the Auxiliary committee, including Mrs. James Graham, chairman, and Mrs. Jay Mathess, Mrs. John Maola, Mrs. Olive Wright, Mrs. Robert Tranter, Mrs. Ralph Lockhart and Mrs. William Bettridge.

A red, white and blue cake was presented the post by the unit and decorations were carried out in a red, white and blue theme.

Commission Sifts TV Cable Rates In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Public Service Commission has taken under consideration the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.'s proposed rates for community antenna television system cables in Kanawha and Hancock counties.

The rates would affect CATV firms in Charleston, Nitro, Dunbar, St. Albans, Chester and Newell.

The C&P proposes charges of $16.50 a month for each quarter mile of feeder cable, a $10 to $15 installation charge and 45 cents a month for individual hookups.

The PSC suspended the proposed rates earlier this month pending submission of additional information by the telephone company.

Five Are Fined By Judge Arfman On Sunday Sales

Operator of a Columbiana area store and four employees of the Hills Department Store at Calcutta were fined $25 and costs each Monday by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine on charges of Sunday sales law violations.

Theron Lammoncha, operator of Theron's Country Store near Columbiana, pleaded not guilty to sales on Sunday, but was fined by the judge.

Four Hills workers, cited in October for engaging in common labor on Sunday, pleaded no contest and were fined by the judge, who last week turned down a request for a dismissal of the charges by the plaintiffs. The workers were Violet Palmer, Cathy Gitschier, Jacqueline Bell and Evelyn Wilson.

Judge Arfman continued until Thursday a hearing for Leander Henson, operator of Lee's Market of Glenmoor, who pleaded not guilty to permitting a building to be used for business on Sunday. He also was cited last month.

Club To Hear Judge

LISBON—East Liverpool Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff will speak at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Daughters of America Lodge rooms. County Judge James MacDonald is program chairman.

rear fender of his car and bounced across the medial strip, hitting the hillside.

Martin told the officer Larkins' car "turned into" his auto, causing it to cross the medial strip.

THE OFFICER said his investigation showed dirt from beneath the fenders of both cars on the center line of the east-bound lanes, indicating that was the point of impact. After the collision with Larkins' car, Martin's auto traveled about four feet to the medial strip, then went 63 feet more on a long diagonal before crashing into the hillside, the officer said.

A pedestrian escaped injury when he was bumped by a car Monday at 7:33 p. m. on St. Clair Ave. at Maplewood Ave., officers said.

He was identified as Howard Coburn, 417 Azalea Ave., struck by a 1958 sedan driven by Alma Rose Chesnut, 27, of 923 McKinnon Ave.

The woman told Patrolman W. F. Copestick she first saw Coburn standing in the street, stooped to tie a shoelace. Then Coburn stood erect again and walked into the path of the auto, she said. The woman said she asked if the man was hurt and he was not. Then he left without identifying himself, she said.

The patrolman said the man later returned to the scene and gave him name and address and repeated that he was unhurt.

Meanwhile, Larry W. Pierce, 19, of Baden, Pa., told police the front and left side of his 1965 sedan were damaged in a collision with an unidentified car Monday at 4:45 p. m. on E. 6th St. at St. Clair Ave.

Pierce said his auto collided with a car driven by a woman as he switched from the right lane to the left lane to make a turn. He said he gave the other driver his name and address and then went to the police station to file a report. The other driver did not report to the station, police said.

2 Wellsville Youths Injured In Accident

Two Wellsville youths were hospitalized when their car hit the rear of a tractor-trailer rig at 1:30 a. m. today on the Wellsville-East Liverpool highway near the Old Dobbin Motel at Wellsville.

Jerry J. Arnette, 19, of 438 Broadway, driver of the car, was in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with chest injuries, while William Smith, 19, of 1745 Clark Ave., a passenger, was in "fair" condition with lacerations and abrasions of the head and face.

Police said the car hit the right rear dual wheels of the tractor-trailer rig operated by William J. Lay of Lake City, Tenn.

Lay was headed south and had started to make a right turn into the motel, police said.

The car was heavily damaged.

Group Will Make Hancock Survey Of Home's Needs

A committee was appointed to study proposed improvements to the playground and laundry room at the Hancock County Children's Home at the meeting of the board Monday night at the home, located on Gas Valley Rd. near Pughtown.

James Finley, board chairman, appointed Norman Ferrari, William Graham, Charles Padden and Dick Wright as committee members.

Padden reported on a meeting of welfare workers he attended last Wednesday at the Cammack Center in Huntington. He said the new children's home recently completed in that area had been built at a cost of $300,000. Monthly bills were recommended to be paid and were forwarded to the county court.

Finley presided. Other board members present were Ernest John, Charles Miller and Arnold Anderson.

It was announced that the date of the next meeting has been advanced to Dec. 13.

Pre-Enrollment Held Here For Kent's Winter Quarter

Pre-enrollment for winter quarter classes is being held this week at the East Liverpool area center of Kent State University, John G. Hedrick, director, announced today.

He urged all current and prospective students to take advantage of this pre-enrollment period in order to insure a place in the classes of their choice.

Twenty-seven classes are scheduled for the winter quarter—seven in the afternoon at the IBOP Building and 20 in the evening at Westgate. The winter quarter will start Jan. 4 and end March 17.

The classes offered encompass 14 areas of study: art, biology, economics, education, English, history, management, mathematics, music, physical science, political science, psychology, sociology and speech.

Official registration will be on Saturday, Dec. 4, from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. at the IBOP Building. The university bookstore also will be at the center that day to sell textbooks for the winter quarter.

The deadline for admission of new students is Dec. 1. The deadline for late payment of fees is Dec. 31.

These courses are open not only to students who are working for credit, but also to persons who may wish to enhance their personal or professional standards by auditing courses, the director added.

Anyone wishing to audit courses must follow the entrance procedure and then pay the regular registration fee. Further information is available at the East Liverpool area center.

The center office is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Saturday from 9 a. m. until noon.

Hookstown Man Hurt In Fall, 7 Others Treated At Hospital

A Hookstown man hurt in a fall while razing a house and a city man injured in a brick firm mishap were among eight district residents treated Monday at City Hospital.

Ross A. Speer of Hookstown suffered bruises of the left shoulder in a fall of about 10 feet when a beam gave way while he was dismantling a house in Hookstown.

James Covert of Louise St., an employee of the Globe Brick Co., was treated for a wound of the left arm in which a piece of metal became imbedded.

Jeweline Young, daughter of Mrs. Katherine Young of Midland Heights, suffered a cut right wrist on a storm door.

More Candidates File Statements

Seven more East Liverpool and Wellsville candidates have filed sworn statements of campaign receipts and expenses in the Nov. 2 election with the County Election Board.

Frank P. Duffy, Democrat, who was elected to a council-at-large post in East Liverpool, reported expenses of $71.20, while Harold R. Maylone, Republican, who was elected as Fourth Ward councilman, listed receipt of $10 and expenses of $32.97.

James B. Phillips, a Fourth Ward candidate in Wellsville, said he spent $18.51, while Delmar T. O'Hara reported no expenses in his unopposed bid for city solicitor.

Robert H. Arnold, unsuccessful candidate for the East Liverpool Board of Education, reported expenses of $14.42.

Daniel L. Mason, who was elected to the Wellsville school board, said he incurred expenses of $18.62, while Russell Dysert, who was defeated for a new term, reported he spent $5.

Church Brotherhood Has Monthly Meeting

Twenty-five were present during the monthly meeting of the Calvary Methodist Brotherhood Monday night at the church.

Guests included members of the Boyce Methodist Brotherhood and Donald Smith, who screened slides of his recent visit to Spain. The group was lead in song by Dick Welch.

Refreshments were served by Roy Richards, Don Neville and Danny Johns. The next meeting will be Dec. 20.

Rochester Bus Firm Faces PUC Charges

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Rochester Transit Co. of Beaver County was cited by the Public Utility Commission Monday for allegedly providing chartered bus service beyond its certificated area.

The firm was directed to show within 15 days why it should not be fined or have its permit revoked.

raining and the fire was contained to the barn."

Paul Blake, the son-in-law of the Normans, was taking care of the barn in their absence. He lives about a half-mile from the farm and hadn't checked it since Monday night.

The two-story, 80-by-36-foot structure housed one and one half tons of ground feed and was filled with hay.

THERE WAS no livestock in the barn at the time, Blake said. "I was going to put the cattle in the barn last night, but the weather was so nice I decided to leave them graze. I am glad I did now."

The origin of the fire has not been determined and an estimate of the damage will not be available until the Normans are contacted. Chief Morgan said.

Two Fined By Herron On Traffic Charges

NEW CUMBERLAND — Two men were fined for traffic violations by Judge John D. Herron in New Cumberland police court Monday.

Charles R. Long, 20, of New Cumberland was assessed $25 and costs on a hazardous driving charge and James A. Perry, 30, of Toronto $10 and costs for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Both motorists were cited by Chief Jake Baxter.

$205 Theft Probed

LISBON — Deputy Sheriff Kent Garvey is investigating a $205 theft from a mobile home of David Lewis of the Tanager Rd., near Negley, Lewis told the sheriff's office at 5:40 p. m. Monday the money was taken in an entry sometime between 11 a. m. Saturday and 7 p. m. Sunday.

He told Council the court produces annual revenue ranging from $40,000 to $60,000 which goes into the city's general fund. The judge commented the raise will put the Municipal Court on a par with other city courts in Ohio.

Area Man Sentenced

To Ohio Reformatory

LISBON — Cecil Mike, 24, of Chester was sentenced to 1-15 years each on three counts of burglary by Common Pleas Judge Raymond Buzzard Monday afternoon.

Mike, facing a jury trial for enterings of Scafield's Market and Farmer's Market in East Liverpool and a garage owned by Charles Alpern and Nathan Alpern of East Liverpool, changed his plea to guilty.

Judge Buzzard sentenced him to concurrent terms at the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield. The jury was dismissed.

"See how soft the towel feels... from Mother's new GAS dryer."

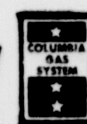

Gentle Gas drying fluffs towels dry, so they seem softer, thicker and thirstier. Jerseys and playclothes dry so soft and wrinkle-free, they're ready to wear again without ironing.

And what a timesaver a Gas dryer is! No more hours spent hanging up and taking down clothes. No more worries about the weather. No heavy loads of wet clothes to carry.

Gas drying is thrifty, too. About a penny's worth of Gas dries a whole load. Why not please your family and yourself? See your Gas appliance dealer today. Let him show you the handsome, advanced styling of today's Gas dryers.

For drying, Gas makes the big difference... costs less, too!

Deaths and Funerals

Thomas H. Jones

Thomas Hugh Jones of 816 Princeton Ave., co-founder in 1902 of the city's first dry cleaning plant, died Monday at 5:30 p. m. at City Hospital. He was 90.

Mr. Jones and W. S. Bailey established the Jones & Bailey Dry Cleaning Co. here 63 years ago. The partnership was dissolved in 1936 and the plant continued as the Jones Dry Cleaning Co. Mr. Jones quit business about eight years ago.

He was born in Wanamee, Pa., Jan. 7, 1875. His wife, Myrtle M. Jones, died in 1958. He was a member of Riddle Masonic Lodge 315.

Surviving are a son, Paul V. Jones of East Liverpool; two grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by the Rev. John Stiltz, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight where Masonic services will be held at 7.

Thurman Haught

Services were to be held this afternoon for Thurman W. Haught, 76, of Woodsfield, W. Va., who died Saturday at his home.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Haught was a member of American Legion Post 87 at Woodsfield.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Blanche Swartzlander Haught, at home, and a sister, Mrs. Ida Lambright of East Liverpool.

The rites were to be held at 2 this afternoon at the Bauer-Turner Funeral Home in Woodsfield by the Rev. Fenton St. John of the Woodsfield Methodist Church.

Burial was to be in Oaklawn Cemetery at Woodsfield.

Mrs. H. R. Burson

Mrs. Frances R. Burson, wife of Harrison R. Burson, 427 Jefferson St., Newell, died Monday at 8:35 p. m. at Osteopathic Hospital, where she had been a patient since Sept. 7. She was 77.

A resident of this vicinity for 50 years, Mrs. Burson was born April 20, 1888, in Jackson County, W. Va., to the late Charles Wolfe and Sevilla Stewart Wolfe.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Clyde C. Burson of Newell and James H. Burson of Pottstown, Pa.; four daughters, Mrs. Alex (Virginia) Mahan of Lompoc, Calif., Mrs. Henry (Grace) Schneidmiller of Loring Air Base, in Maine, Mrs. Joseph (Frances) Zacko Jr. of Silver Springs, Md., and Mrs. James (Lois) Walker of Bel-Aire; a sister, Mrs. Martin Buchmann of Louisville, Ohio; 15 grandchildren, and 4 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Martin Funeral Home by Dr. Willis F. Summers, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Newell. Burial will be in Mt. Carmel Cemetery near Rogers.

Friends may call Wednesday night at the funeral home.

Mrs. Mary Alma Ibbbs

Mrs. Mary Alma Ibbbs, who resided with her daughter, Mrs. Warren (Jane) Carter of 60 Garner ave., died at 2:30 a. m. today at City Hospital following a long illness. She was 77.

She was born here Sept. 16, 1888, to the late Hiram LeMoine and Elizabeth Wright LeMoine. Formerly employed at the Homer Laughlin China Co., she retired in 1946. She was a member of the First United Presbyterian Church. Her husband, Robert F. Ibbbs, died Feb. 12, 1939.

She is survived by another daughter, Mrs. James (Mary) Warren of San Antonio, Tex.; a son, Kenneth Ibbbs of East Liverpool; a brother, John W. LeMoine of Minerva, and 11 grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Dr. A. K. Davison. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and night at the funeral home.

Sam Sallis

Sam Sallis, 63, of 356 Ohio Ave., Midland, died Monday at 2:30 p. m. at Rochester General Hospital following a three-week illness.

He was born Oct. 1, 1902, in Sallis, Miss., and had resided for 20 years in Midland. He was employed at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. and was a member of USW Local 1212.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Linnie Sallis; two sons, Donald Sallis and Lawrence Sallis, at home; a daughter, Nadine Sal-lis, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Liza Clark of Midland and Mrs. Edna Ball of Sallis, and three brothers, Ben Sallis of Sallis, Will Sallis of Durant, Miss., and R. C. Sallis of Kosciusko, Miss.

Services will be held Friday at 1 p. m. at the Leavell Funeral Home in Midland. Burial will be in Sallis.

Friends may call Wednesday and Thursday nights at the funeral home.

Claude W. Weekley

Services for Claude W. Weekley of 609 15th St., Wellsville, who died Saturday, will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. Richard O. Maurer, pastor of the Central Methodist Church. The Rev. Robert E. Andrews of the First Christian Church will assist.

Burial will be in the Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville.

Mr. Weekley, a World War II veteran, was awarded the Bronze Star Victory Medal.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon and tonight.

Karl Thoman

Karl H. Thoman, 47, of 81 Grant St., Newell, a truck driver, died suddenly in his truck at loading docks at North Syracuse, N. Y., following an apparent heart attack Monday morning about 9:30.

Mr. Thoman, trucker for the Shaffer Trucking Co. of Wellsville, was at the docks of the Lincoln Supply Co. when stricken.

He was born at Woodworth, Ohio, April 18, 1918, a son of the late Leroy Thoman and Lotie Thoman.

He came here from Woodworth about eight years ago.

He was a World War II veteran.

He was married in 1940 to the former Anne G. Garner of Youngstown.

Besides his widow, he is survived by three sons, John L. Thoman of Lisbon, Robert E. Thoman of Georgetown and Thomas H. Thoman at home; a sister, Mrs. Fred (Pauline) Schulte of Austintown, and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Friday morning at 11 at the Arner Funeral Chapel at Chester by the Rev. Harold C. Smith of the Newell Nazarene Church.

Friends may call at the Chapel Wednesday and Thursday.

August W. Lotze

EAST PALESTINE — Services will be held Wednesday for August W. Lotze of 1517 N. Market St., district coal operator, who died following a heart attack while visiting in California Saturday.

The rites will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 at the VanDyke Funeral Home by the Rev. Thomas Hammerton of the Centenary Methodist Church. Burial will be in Glenview Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Mrs. Millard Carter

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home for Mrs. Eleanor Louise Carter, 43, wife of Millard F. Carter of 1185 Pennsylvania Ave., who died Monday morning at City Hospital.

The Rev. Moses Bishop of the Sheridan Ave. African Methodist Episcopal Church will officiate. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home today and Wednesday.

cent of their tax valuation, less any outstanding indebtedness.

Utterbach also had recommended that Beatty expedite the plans for the high school and North Side elementary school so that bids can be sought on all four buildings at one time.

BLAIR SAID it does not mean that the contracts will be let to one bidder, but said it might be possible to combine the high school and North Side buildings so that one contractor would do the work. He cited the limits of the Maine Blvd. tract and possible problems with two contractors working in the same area at the same time.

Blair said the state also had suggested what he termed "minor" revisions in the plans for the East End and LaCrosse buildings as possible savings in construction costs.

Richard Smith, another board member, said he wanted to emphasize that the rejection of the bids was the state's decision. "There's been so much criticism; it's not our fault. We have made many trips to Columbus to confer on these plans."

Declaring the state made an error in its estimates, Woomer said he does not believe the new bids will be much under those which were rejected.

THE STATE cut the funds available and then made its estimates which were not realistic, he continued.

"I don't see what new bidding is going to accomplish unless the state revises its estimates. In three or four months, we will be in the same position as we are now."

"They (the state officials) haven't cooperated to this point. They have fought us every step of the way. They even doubted Hargraves (Asst. Supt. George Hargraves) when he had the information in black and white."

Mrs. Nessie R. Dunlop, board vice president who attended the meeting, said the plan now is to ask bids on the four buildings at one time. "If we have to go to the Controlling Board, we only want to make one trip."

"It's not money they're trying to save; it's face!" Smith commented.

The discussion ended and the board approved the resolution rejecting the bids.

When it met with Beatty in an informal session after the regular meeting, the architect submitted a 2½-page list of possible revisions suggested by state officials to reduce the cost of the East End and LaCrosse buildings.

Among the suggestions were reduction of the size of the locker rooms in the three elementary buildings, which Beatty estimated would save approximately 800 square feet, different temperature controls and lighting fixtures, and terrazo floors for lobbies only with vinyl asbestos tile in corridors.

State officials also have suggested that Beatty prepare a schedule as to when the plans can be completed with the date to be as early as possible after Jan. 1.

No discussion was held on when the plans will be completed, but there were indications that it may be late February or March before bids can be opened.

New Rabbi Installed Here

MRS. MAURICE NEWMAN, president of the Sisterhood, Rabbi Sidney Hoffman and Dr. Alexander S. Fisher, president of the congregation, confer during installation exercises for the rabbi Sunday night.

Rabbi Sidney Hoffman was installed by the Beth Shalom Congregation during a dinner Sunday night.

Participating in the ceremony were Dr. W. Z. Sulkes and Dr. Norman Birnbaum, past presidents of the congregation; Irving Silverberg, president of the congregation's youth group; Mrs. Maurice Newman, president of the Sisterhood, and Dr. A. S. Fisher, president of the Board of Trustees of the congregation.

Rabbi Hoffman was presented with a Menorah, a Bible and a roster of the members, symbolizing his leadership and guidance of the congregation. He is a native of Lynn, Mass., a graduate of the University of Cincinnati and of the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati. He was ordained in 1956. He served two years in the chaplaincy with the Air Force in the Far East. Before coming to East Liverpool, he served pulpits in Battle Creek, Mich., and Lima.

Rabbi Hoffman is married and the father of five children.

Martin Gluchow and Donald Lynn were chairmen of the installation arrangements.

Vocal selections were sung by Ernest Lowe, with Mrs. Lowe accompanist.

THANK YOU!

I WISH TO THANK ALL OF THOSE WHO HELPED ME TO BE ELECTED TO THE OFFICE OF COUNCIL-AT-LARGE, CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it had launched its second space shot toward the planet Venus within five days.

Tass said the launching of the unmanned automatic space station Venus 3 was similar to the launching of Venus 2 last Friday.

Planners' Group Picks 5 In Posts

The committee studying a "master plan" report for modernization of the central business area made five appointments to various positions at a meeting Monday night at City Hall.

The committee named Dr. Marvin Kinsey as vice chairman, to work with Alvin Babb, chairman, and selected Harry Martin as secretary.

Audley Elliott was named head of a subcommittee on parking and traffic circulation; Maurice Rapport was picked to head a subcommittee on building renewal and preservation of open space, and Ralph Finley was named head of a committee on financing.

The committee heard a report from Daniel Ziegler of Pittsburgh, a representative of the firm of Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus which is preparing the "master plan" under contract with the city.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Does anyone really want an honest opinion? I'm beginning to think they don't.

My brother-in-law who lost his wife two years ago asked me for my opinion of the woman he has been dating. I told him I thought she was a loud, vulgar, money-hungry shrew and that if he marries her she will wring him out like a pair of cotton socks, toss him aside and go on to the next sucker.

Instead of thanking me for my honesty he gave me a withering look and said, "Well, if that's the way you feel about Amelia I'll see that your name is removed from the wedding list."

Now my husband is furious with me. This brother is his favorite and he says we will never be invited to their home. I repeat my question: Does it pay to be honest? — CANNOT LIE

Dear Cannot: There's a vast difference between being honest and chopping people into hamburger. Cruel and vicious remarks masked as "an honest opinion" fool no one.

The next time you are asked such a question, say something pleasant. Every person has at least one good quality.

Unwanted Help

Dear Ann: I promised myself the next time you did it I would write to you and today is the day. Please, please stop suggesting volunteer work as therapy for crazy, mixed-up dames.

Women who are capable of performing a real service to the community don't need to be told to join anything. They are right in there pitching and doing a wonderful job.

It's easy to spot disturbed women who volunteer not because they want to serve, but because they need something to do. They are high-strung, irritable and trouble makers. It takes five times as long to train them as it does to train the others. Then they drop out because they can't get along with their co-workers or the work doesn't turn out to be the cure-all they had hoped for.

So please, Annie, don't do us any favors. Send the disturbed women to doctors, not to us.—G.

Dear G.: Perhaps you have a point, but it does seem to me that there is a volunteer job for every pair of willing hands and strong feet — even if they belong to a high-strung, irritable woman.

Misplaced Concern

Dear Ann Landers: Eight of us girls get together every two weeks to play cards. One of the girls who has been married three years announced in April she was expecting a baby on Oct. 12. Well, on Aug. 18 she gave birth. Her child weighed 6 pounds 8 ounces and had a full head of hair. She made a point of explaining to everyone that the baby was premature.

Please tell us how in the world a premature baby can weigh more than most nine-month babies. When we told her she must have miscalculated the date of birth, she stubbornly insisted that she did no such thing.

Since this woman is so obstinate we decided to ask you to check out the facts and settle the argument. — SEVEN DISBELIEVERS.

Dear Seven: It is unusual for a premature baby to be so large but it is not unheard of. What baffles me is not the size of the child, but the size of your interest. Why do you dames concern yourselves with such trivia?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Princess, Husband Whirl Into Washington Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, whirl into a busy schedule today that combines sentiment, religion, history and partying.

The princess said they wanted to see as much as they could of things that "up to now we've only been able to read about."

That included monuments, museums, the grave of President John F. Kennedy at Arlington National Cemetery, and Washington National Cathedral where the historic Glastonbury thorn — true to tradition — burst into bloom for the visit of British royalty.

Washington's Glastonbury thorn grew from a cutting given the cathedral by British friends in 1902. The cutting supposedly was from the original thorn, which legend says sprouted from the staff of Joseph of Arimathea who is said to have founded the first Christian church in England at Glastonbury.

The thorn's white flowers have blossomed four times previously when British royalty visited Washington.

The royal couple, arriving here late Monday from Arizona on a presidential jet plane, considered getting a head start with a drive around the capital Monday night. They decided to rest instead, after the five-hour flight and an hour-long appearance at a jam-packed reception where they met the Washington press corps.

Their entrance to the capital came at dusk and the princess lamented "I didn't see anything" on the half-hour motorcade ride from Andrews Air Force Base that stopped rush-hour traffic.

Police escorts, sirens blaring, snaked them through red lights and a confusion of traffic, including a few motorists who joined the procession by mistake.

So far on their American tour which began Nov. 4, the princess and her husband reported they had been most impressed by the view of the Grand Canyon from their low-flying plane.

"Now here in Washington," the princess told the press reception attended by more than 1,000, "we look forward with great pleasure to meeting President and Mrs. Johnson again and to spending as much time as we can seeing the art treasures and historic buildings."

Mrs. Johnson was invited to a British Embassy luncheon today and the Johnsons planned a gay dinner-dance for the royal visitors at the White House Wednesday night. Beside that, there were teas, receptions and parties ahead.

Japanese Predicting Big Volcanic Eruption

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese seismologists predict a big eruption is about due on the volcanic island of Torishima, 360 miles south of Tokyo.

They said tremors rocked the island Monday and that, judging from experience, volcanic eruptions normally occur after such tremors cease.

The seismologists recommended immediate evacuation of 37 weathermen and 15 construction workers on the island.

Window Washer Cited In School Teacher's Death

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police have charged a hospital window washer in the slaying of a school teacher who was beaten to death with a large, blue vase in her basement apartment.

Officers said an attempt also was made to suffocate the teacher's 9-year-old daughter.

The body of the teacher, Mrs. Emma Meadows, 37, was found Monday on the floor of her kitchen. Her daughter, Ivy Dorsey, who also was stabbed twice and suffered other cuts and bruises, was in fair condition in a hospital.

Arrested at his job at Good Samaritan Hospital was Ernest Leon Gray, 26, who was charged with first degree murder and cutting with intent to kill.

Police said Gray could not explain his actions. He said he had met Mrs. Meadows through friends last summer. Mrs. Meadows, a divorcee, had taught first grade the last five years at Swift Primary School.

The daughter said Gray came to the apartment about 2 a.m. and her mother let him in and he started beating her, police said.

The girl said the man then tried to suffocate her with a pillow taken from a couch. She was knocked unconscious and did not waken until five hours later, police said.

The girl then called an aunt and police were summoned.

2 Appointed By Board As School Custodians

The appointments of Hugh McKernan and Joe Jackson as school custodians were approved and seven rentals of school facilities were authorized Monday night by the Board of Education.

In recommending the appointments of McKernan and Jackson, Supt. Paul H. Blair told the board the two were among four names certified by the Municipal Civil Service Commission as having passed its test for custodians.

At Blair's requests, the appointments were made effective Nov. 1. In response to a question, Clarence O'Hanlon, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said Jackson is working at Westgate and McKernan at Memorial Auditorium.

THE BOARD authorized the Key Club of the high school to use the Westgate cafeteria from 5 to 9 p.m. on Nov. 27 for an appreciation banquet. The only charge will be for custodial services, if required, and for cafeteria personnel if the banquet is not catered.

It approved the use of the choir room at Westgate on Sunday mornings and Wednesday nights for services of the Christian Science Society of East Liverpool. Blair explained the house the society has been using on W. 6th St. has been sold to City Hospital.

The fee will be $5 for each meeting plus custodial fees, if necessary, and pay of a boiler fireman if required in cold weather.

The board also approved the use of Westgate auditorium on Dec. 14 and Jan. 17-22 with a matinee at 2 p.m. on the last date by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Film Ministry for the showing of the film "The Restless Ones." The local representatives are William Smith and the Rev. Paul George. The rental fee will be $50 per night.

THE KIWANIS Club was authorized use of the Westgate cafeteria on Dec. 4 for a pancake supper at a fee of $18 plus charges for cafeteria and custodial personnel.

Wellsville Jaycees were given permission to use Westgate auditorium on Dec. 29 for a rehearsal and Dec. 30 for its "Junior Miss" contest. The fee will be $20 for the rehearsal night and $50 for the night of the contest.

The Lincoln Home and School Association was authorized the use of the school gym on March 8-15-22-29 and April 12-19 for the yearly dancing lessons it sponsors and the East Junior High gym on April 23 for a party for dance students.

The Neville Parent-Teacher Association was granted use of the East Junior High gym on Dec. 14 from 7 to 9 p.m. for a Christmas program. The only charge for either school group will be custodial fees.

THE BOARD also granted permission for Kathy McCormick, a senior, to attend East Liverpool High School. The request was made by her mother, Mrs. Robert McCormick, who said the family now lives in the Beaver Local district, Blair reported.

Miss Kathryn C. Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported receipt of an advance of $127,000 on the final settlement of the personal property tax and $69,412 as the state foundation payment for October.

The general fund has a balance of $234,321 with a balance in all funds of $480,430.

Mrs. Jessie R. Dunlop, vice president, reported on the annual convention of the Ohio School Boards Association last week in Columbus which she attended as the board's delegate.

Mrs. Dunlop presided in the absence of Harry D. McConville, president, who missed his first meeting. He is ill with a virus.

The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Russell Mase of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church.

Ballistics Tests Show Same Weapon Killed 2

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — The same weapon killed two filling station attendants slain in Central Ohio six weeks apart, state ballistics tests confirm.

Results of the tests at the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigation here bear out authorities' suspicions that the same person murdered Chester Joseph Scowden, 19, and Claude F. Quesenberry, 41.

Scowden was fatally shot through the head in Columbus Oct. 2 and Quesenberry met a similar fate near West Jefferson Nov. 11.

Receives URA Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Urban Renewal Administration loan of $80,315 has been announced for North Riverdale, Ohio, to plan its 79.7-acre north-east project.

Council Votes $44,626 Fund

Council enacted an amended appropriation ordinance Monday night allocating $44,626 to various city departments to help them round out 1965.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper told Council the County Budget Commission boosted by $15,000 the amount the city may anticipate this year in the general fund. This enabled Council to provide $18,500 more for street department operations — $12,000 for materials and supplies and $6,500 for payrolls.

Another $4,000 was provided for garbage and trash collections, including $3,200 for removal employees and $800 for disposal employees.

Some of the additional allocations were required as a result of pay increases which Council granted last May, but for which money had not been appropriated, Cooper said. These items included $4,825 for the police department, $5,500 for the fire department and $1,500 for "Meter Maids."

Other appropriations include: City's contribution to employees' hospital insurance premiums, $900; contributions to Public Employees Retirement System, $425; health fund, $882; service fund, $705; swimming pool fund, $2,076; Thompson Park employees' wages, $400, and income tax office printing, $200.

The legislation contains an emergency clause, which means it will go into effect as soon as it is signed by Mayor George E. Willshaw.

Killed In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another serviceman with Ohio next-of-kin is on the latest Viet Nam killed-in-action list, raising the state's total to 38. The Ohioan on Monday's Defense Department list was Pfc. Mariner Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pugh of Lima.

During Post's Banquet

John F. Ruhe Honored

John F. Ruhe, right, was presented with a plaque Saturday night by Richard G. Brian in recognition of his work for 27 consecutive years in aiding the annual March of Dimes campaign.

Richard G. Brian, campaign chairman for the annual "Dimes" drive in the county, presented the state award to Ruhe during the annual Veterans Day banquet of American Legion Post 374, of which Ruhe is a charter member. About 125 attended.

Ruhe, and his wife reside at 1615 Alpha St. He is a retired agent of the Metropolitan Insurance Co. and presently works part-time at the Review. He has held many offices in the post, including commander. He now is chairman of the Americanism committee.

Brian also presented certificates of appreciation to Robert Nutter and James Cregar, who also have worked in the March of Dimes campaign.

A duplicate of the plaque presented to Ruhe also was given to the post.

Charles William Heacock of Columbus, commander of the Ohio American Legion, was guest speaker. He was presented a gift on behalf of the post by Cregar, who was master of ceremonies.

John Long, commander, presided.

Traffic Signal Being Sought

A report on plans to erect a manually - controlled traffic signal on Route 170 at the entrance to Calcutta School was given during the meeting of the Calcutta Parent - Teacher Association Monday night.

John Brown reported on the conference he held with Earl Nelson, deputy director of the State Highway Department in charge of the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia.

If permission is given to erect the signal, it will be purchased by the PTA. If the highway department turns down the proposal, traffic gates will be erected at each entrance.

Mrs. Ruth Green of the Boosters Club reported on a $20,000 campaign to raise funds for improvements to the Beaver Local High School football field and urged a donation by the organization.

A letter was read from the Child Counseling Center thanking the group for its donation.

Lester Bickel, principal, reported a water cooler the organization is purchasing has been delivered and will be installed shortly. James Moore, president, presided.

Devotions were led by the Rev. Frank Higgenbotham of the Chester Church of Christ. The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Vida Faloon's room.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis screened the film "The Child Molester", which also will be shown to pupils.

An operetta by elementary pupils will be presented at the meeting Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. It is being directed by Miss Sharon Bell, director of elementary vocal music.

Western Beaver Classes To Begin

Adult evening classes in Spanish, sewing, women's recreation, shop and art begin tonight at Western Beaver High School.

Sixty - three adults have enrolled for the two - hour sessions to be held one night a week in each course.

The sewing class opens the 12-week slate of instruction at 7:30 tonight. The program will close Feb. 14. Art, Spanish and women's recreation follow on Wednesday, with shop classes beginning Thursday.

School officials termed the registration a success.

Membership Plans Set By Chester VFW Post

Plans for 100 per cent membership by the first of the year were outlined during the meeting of VFW Burge - Casto Post 6450 of Chester Monday night at the post.

Robert Milby, quartermaster, reported a membership of 101 to date. He also gave the post financial report.

Comdr. Sanford Graham appointed Sayre Graham, Robert Milby, William Glover and Jeddie Wilson as a committee to make preparations for the annual Community Christmas party for the children of Chester in conjunction with American Legion Post 121. They also will make plans for distributing Christmas baskets.

SOCIAL events for December were discussed, including a Tom and Jerry Party the day before Christmas, and a New Year's Eve dance. The committee for these events includes George Allison, Glover, Comdr. Graham, Milby and William Maple. All members were reminded that the post home will be closed Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

The post will purchase jackets for the bowling team, champions in its league the last five years. The team is comprised of James Morris, captain, Richard McGurran, George McGurran, Hap Allison, Robert Sayres, John Stoy and Clarence Eagle.

Charles W. Morris, chairman of the VFW contest, entitled "I Speak for Democracy," reported that the contest will be held at Oak Glen High School next Monday. The first - place winner will receive $25, the second-place winner $15 and the third-place winner $10. The first-place winner, in addition, will compete

Free Parking Set At East Palestine

EAST PALESTINE—The annual free Christmas holiday parking program was authorized by Council at a meeting Monday night.

Council approved a request from the Chamber of Commerce for unmetered parking in the business district from Dec. 4 to Dec. 31.

In other action, Council appropriated from the meter fund $3,000 for a new police cruiser and radio for the vehicle and $1,600 from the general fund for new boots and raincoats for the 35-member volunteer fire department.

Safety - Service Director George McGuckin reported dust collectors are being installed on the new boiler at the municipal power plant to reduce the amount of fly ash.

Big Office Tower Will Be Erected

PITTSBURGH — The Oliver Tyrone Corp. yesterday revealed it will build an office tower of 35 to 40 stories, costing $20 million, on a site bounded by Wood St., 6th Ave. Sixth Avenue and Liberty Ave.

Richard K. Means, president of Oliver Properties Division, said acquisition of the site had been "virtually completed" and demolition of existing structures will begin early next March.

Means said the exact size and design of the building could not be finally determined until at least one of two gaps in the property has been filled.

One of these gaps is occupied at present by the Pittsburgh Press Club, which has not yet agreed to sell its building on 6th Ave.

The other gap is the space under lease to Reizenstein's in one of the buildings acquired by Oliver Tyrone on Wood St.

Frustrations Of Losing Forced Norm Out United Finishes Fifth In Class A

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, whose all-consuming drive to win made it seemingly impossible for him to accept defeat, decided Monday that he could no longer stand the frustrations of losing.

He told the Minnesota Vikings he was quitting immediately as head coach, with five games of the National Football League season remaining.

The Vikings tried today to talk him out of it, but it was regarded as a less than 50-50 chance that they would have any success.

The volcanic Dutchman, who was one of professional football's greatest quarterbacks for 12 years with the Los Angeles Rams and Philadelphia Eagles,

Defeat By Colts Was Last Straw

It lowered Minnesota's record in the Western Conference to 5-4 and virtually eliminated the Vikings as championship contenders. In 4½ years, Van Brocklin directed Minnesota to a 23-39-3 record, but the Vikings were regarded as a rising power and tied Green Bay for second in the West in 1964.

Van Brocklin, his own worst critic, blamed himself for an inability "to get this tea mover the hump."

He is known to be bitterly disappointed over Viking failures this season when he openly predicted — and felt in his heart — a championship year was possible.

The frustrations built until he could no longer resolve them by lashing out at others as he did frequently.

His players were not immune to his biting sarcasm. Rookies have been known to take something Van Brocklin said so personally and seriously that they suikled for days and dreaded facing him.

Yet, the 39-year-old Dutchman could be charming and pleasant.

His moody personality, probably more than anything, is at the root of Monday's impetuous decision. As a player and coach, Van Brocklin had a burning desire to win. He lost hard and sometimes lapsed into moody despair which spilled over Monday into the decision to quit.

He could not rationalize his despair and — in his mind — all of the blame for the Viking failures were his.

The stunned Viking management, however, marshaled for an all-out effort to get Van Brocklin to reconsider. General Manager Jim Finks and the club's five directors hoped to arrange a meeting with him today or Wednesday. In the meantime, assistant coaches Walt Yowarsky and Marion Campbell ran the Viking practice.

"If we lose him, we'll lose the best football coach in the country," club President Max Winter said. "We'll do anything within reason to keep him. We'll gladly tear up his contract and write a new one."

Van Brocklin has 1½ years to go on his current contract, which pays him an estimated $40,000 annually.

Money most certainly is no motive with Van Brocklin, however; nor were opportunities elsewhere.

"I don't know what I'm going to do for a living," the father of three teen-aged daughters said. "But it won't be in football. I want to get out of football now. I'm not doing this to angle for any other coaching job. I know my name has been mentioned for the Atlanta job, but this is it, the end, in coaching for me."

COLUMBUS (AP) — Massillon, traditionally a scholastic football power, locked up its 11th state high school grid championship today.

The unbeaten Stark County giant garnered 162 points from The Associated Press Selection Board in the final ratings of the season.

The Rutgers Hall of Fame

Trophy goes to Coach Earle Bruce's Tigers, who beat runner-up Sandusky by 18 points. The two schools, both with perfect 10-0 records, came right down to the wire in their season-long struggle for top honors.

It was the second straight year that Massillon had captured the coveted championship. Surging Cincinnati Moeller, also with a 10-0 record, finished third followed by Columbus Waterson, Warren Harding, Upper Arlington, Cleveland Benedictine and Steubenville (tied for 7th), Athens and Middletown.

Massillon finished its season last Saturday in exciting fashion, coming from two touchdowns behind to nip ancient rival Canton McKinley, 18-14.

Sandusky closed out an outstanding year Friday night by walloping Mansfield, 48-0.

Massillon, which now has completed two straight perfect seasons, held first place every week of the poll and did it the hard way, stopping three teams ranked in the top ten.

Once-beaten Warren and Benedictine lost their only games to the Tigers, and Steubenville suffered one of its two setbacks to the leaders.

In Class A competition, unbeaten Dover St. Joseph squeaked through with 107 points to edge Marion Catholic by five for top honors among the small schools.

Millersport, which finished last Friday by whipping highly regarded Lancaster Fenwick 14-0 for its 10th consecutive shut-out, climbed all the way to third on 74 points.

Rounding out the elite circle were Lake, United Hanover, Johnstown, Fairport Harbor, Lancaster Fenwick and Adena and Portsmouth Notre Dame, which finished tied for ninth.

Middletown tumbled from the unbeaten class Friday bowing to Hamilton Garfield, 14-8. In another mild surprise, Niles fought Warren to a 14-14 tie.

Southern Cal, UCLA Set To Settle Issue On West Coast

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan State, rolling along week after week as the nation's No. 1 college football team, faces its biggest challenge in a decade Saturday against the determined legions of Notre Dame.

The game is one of three big ones on tap this weekend, each involving two members of the Top Ten and each of national importance. They are Notre Dame - Michigan State, Arkansas-Texas Tech and Southern California-UCLA.

Michigan State, returned as the nation's No. 1 team in the regular weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters today, is 9-0 for the season and gunning for its first national championship since 1952.

Should the Spartans beat Notre Dame in their last game of the season, the national championship is almost assured.

But Notre Dame, ranked fourth in the nation and 7-1, also has national championship aspirations and possibly could vault to the No. 1 spot with a decisive victory.

Michigan State whipped Indiana 27-13 and Notre Dame took North Carolina 17-0 last weekend.

Arkansas remained second, also at 9-0, and risks a 21-game winning string against Texas Tech, which moved into the Top Ten with an 8-1 record. The winner gets the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. Tech will go to the Gator Bowl if it loses.

An Arkansas victory will give it the Southwest Conference title outright — and perhaps a shot at the national title if Michigan State should stumble. Tech gains a share of the conference crown if it wins.

Arkansas beat SMU 24-3 and Tech took Baylor 34-22 last weekend.

Southern Cal and UCLA are ranked sixth and seventh, respectively, each with a 6-1-1 record. The winner almost certainly gets the Rose Bowl spot opposite Michigan State.

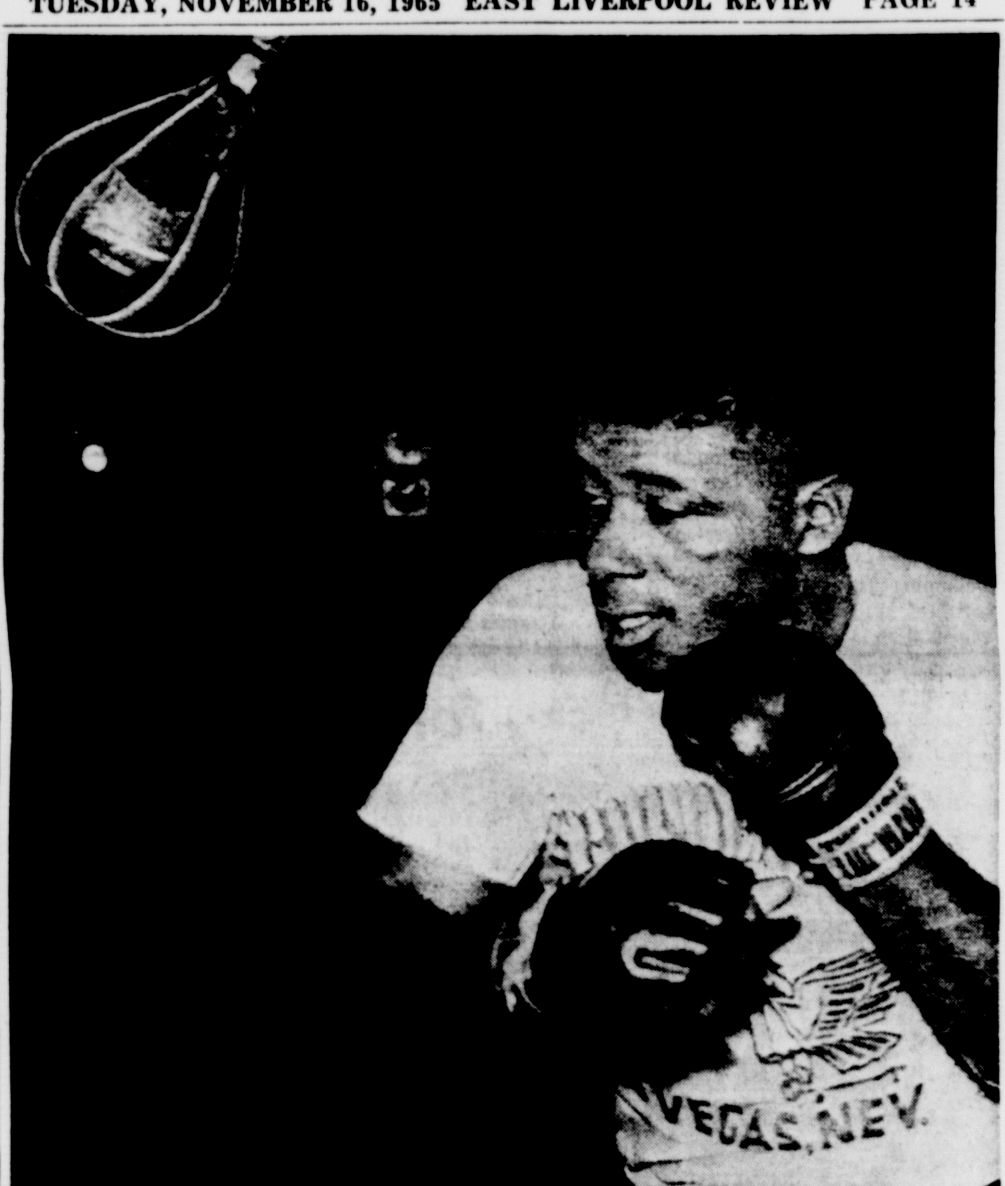

Michigan State received 31 of the 48 first-place votes cast and gained 456 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points:

|--------------------------|-----|
| 1. Mich. State (31) 9-0 | 456 |
| 2. Arkansas (15) 9-0 | 439 |
| 3. Nebraska (2) 9-0 | 378 |
| 4. Notre Dame 7-1 | 346 |
| 5. Alabama 7-1 | 268 |
| 6. Southern Calif. 6-1-1 | 226 |
| 7. UCLA 7-1-1 | 180 |
| 8. Missouri 6-2-1 | 115 |
| 9. Texas Tech 8-1 | 86 |

Breedlove Has Taken Speed Title This Year

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — Craig Breedlove has won his duel with Art Arfons for the world land speed record — at least for this year.

Neither man disputes it.

"I know we've got the record," the handsome Breedlove said Monday after recapturing the mark he has traded with Arfons the past year.

"There's major damage (to my car) . . . the repairs probably will take 30 to 40 days," Arfons said at his home in Akron, Ohio. That means Christmas and Arfons said he would rather wait until mid-January.

However, winter is moving in over the western Utah raceway and the flats usually are covered by a snow blanket in January.

Breedlove and his jet car, Spirit of America Sonic I, compiled a two-way average speed of 600.601 miles per hour through the measured mile in regaining the record. The performance wiped out a 576.553 m.p.h. mark set by Arfons last week.

Underlining the end of record racing for 1965, chief timer Joe Petralli of the U.S. Automobile Club packed his gear and headed home to Upland, Calif. He said he wouldn't be back this year.

Breedlove's record Monday — he's held it four times in the past in his see-saw competition with Arfons — gave him another distinction. He is the first man to officially drive 400, 500 and 600 m.p.h.

Will he go for 700? "Of course, if I can," said the 28-year-old former hot-rodder from Palos Verde, Calif. "But probably not in this car. The limit of this car is in the high 600s."

"And don't talk about the sound barrier (740-760 m.p.h. on the flats). That's a long way off."

Breedlove's blue jet actually was constructed for supersonic speeds with a pinched midsection to increase air penetration at high speeds. But troubles with body panels—they buckled on several earlier runs — and caved-in front cowlings forced modifications that reduced the jet's potential.

Breedlove said he probably will have to go to a different configuration in designing a car capable of the sound barrier.

Buckeye Border Preview Set Nov. 24 At JU Gym

Three local schools will take part in the annual Buckeye Border Conference basketball preview scheduled Wednesday Nov. 24 at Jefferson Union High School.

The conference teams of Beaver Local, Wellsville, Southern, Jefferson Union, Springfield Local, Toronto and Jefferson Union plus Winterville which is not a member, will participate in the preview.

The first game at 7 matches JU and Wellsville while Wellsville meets Winterville in the second contest at 7:20. Winterville and Beaver Local clash at 7:40 with the Beavers meeting Southern at 8. At 8:40, Springfield faces Toronto and Toronto returns at 9 to meet JU.

Admission will be $1 for adults and students 50 cents. No reserved seat tickets will be sold.

Don't Count Cookie Out Of Rush Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't count Cookie Gilchrist out of that rushing race in the American Football League.

Although Paul Lowe of San Diego is out front with 850 yards to Cookie's 684, the Chargers have an open date Sunday while Cookie and the Denver Broncos will be at work.

As San Diego already has played 10 games and Denver has played only nine, the extra date gives Gilchrist a big chance to close the gap.

Gilchrist ran for 119 yards on 16 carries against Houston last Sunday while Lowe was held to 48 yards by Kansas City.

Despite John Hadl's troubles against the Kansas City defense, the San Diego quarterback still leads the passers in standings based on six categories.

Chicago senior Nick Krawt captures the 1965 Michigan State soccer team.

Thornton, Carraher Win Honors At Tiger Banquet

Chris Thornton and Mike Carraher were honored during the annual banquet held for members of the Wellsville High School football team Monday night by the Wellsville volunteer fire department at the station.

Thornton, who has set all new records for the school, was presented the football used in the Springfield Local game. Written on it were the total points for the year, the most points in one game and the total yardage gained for the year.

The fire department trophy for the most improved player of the year went to Carraher.

Ken Woods, coach, presented varsity letters to members of the Tiger squad.

Fr. Gerald Curran of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church gave the invocation. Tom Lanam, department president, was master of ceremonies.

Dyke Beede, football coach at Youngstown University, was guest speaker.

Guests included male faculty members and school administrators, Mayor William Daugherty, Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare and other football and department boosters.

A film of the 1964 Cleveland Browns team was screened. The meal was prepared and served by the department auxiliary.

Anderson Boys Are Wanted

Battle Seen For Two Last Year Picks In Pro Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody is buzzing about the pro football draft with the AFL determined to jump the gun Nov. 20 and the NFL sticking to the Nov. 27 Army-Navy date, but the big battle may be for the Anderson boys who were picked last year as red shirts.

Donny Anderson, the Texas Tech halfback whiz, can take his pick and angle for the top dollar after the Red Raiders close their season. He knows he is wanted.

Vince Lombardi had two No. 1 picks last fall and he selected Donny as one of them. Larry Elkins of Baylor, picked by the Packers as their other No. 1 draft choice, signed with Houston of the AFL. However, he missed the year due to injuries.

When Lombardi thinks highly enough of a boy to draft him No. 1, knowing he has to wait a full year before he can try to sign him, the young man must have talent.

Houston also picked Donny Anderson No. 1 in their special or red-shirt draft, which the AFL holds separately from the regular selection.

Bill Anderson, the Tulsa quarterback who followed in Jerry Rhome's shoes and carried on with the air circus for Glenn Dobbs, also was drafted as a future last fall. The Los Angeles Rams picked Bill No. 19 in the regular selection and the AFL Oilers made him their No. 11 pick among the futures. The two Andersons are not related.

Also included among the collegians drafted in advance are the sons of two coaches. George Wilson, Jr., of Xavier, son of the Washington Redskins' assistant coach, was picked by Detroit, then coached by his father.

Brown Plans To Play One More Season

CLEVELAND (AP) — Will Jim Brown stay in football as a coach? Maybe.

"I've had thoughts about many jobs," Brown said. "I'm keeping an open mind. If anyone shows interest in me as a coach I certainly would consider the opportunity."

The Cleveland Browns' full-back, who received a standing ovation at the weekly Touchdown Club luncheon Monday, has said he plans to play through the 1966 season, then retire.

Asked if he wanted to go out on top, Brown answered, "I guess everybody feels that way. There are a lot of things involved though. I'd like to win it this year and again next year, then retire."

The Browns stand a good chance to win the Eastern Conference championship this season and defend their National Football League title. Cleveland (7-2) has a two-game edge over the St. Louis Cardinals (5-4) with five games left on the schedule.

Brown, who holds nine of 17 possible NFL rushing records and is second in four others, said he's enjoying his football no more than ever.

"I'm a free ball player able to utilize all my abilities," he said. "I like to catch the football. Now I'm being used as a receiver. I'm able to talk to (owner) Art Modell and (coach) Blanton Collier. Even do a little coaching. I get a kick out of working with the offensive line."

Brown has been an unofficial tutor of the Browns' line this season with line coach Fritz Heiser.

"We talk about changing position of the linemen for better blocking," Brown said. "In this football a runner doesn't need that clean block."

He paid tribute to the Browns' offensive line for its play in Sunday's 34-21 victory over the New York Giants, and singled out All-Pro tackle Dick Scharf.

Commissioners See Saving Under Toll-Free Phone Plan

LISBON — Installation of toll-free telephone service from East Liverpool and Salem to the Courthouse is expected to provide savings on county telephone bills in addition to savings for residents of the two areas, county commissioners said today.

The commissioners last week authorized installation of the lines to cost $140 a month, plus connection of the County Welfare Department lines to the Courthouse switchboard in the new system.

Commissioners Max Gard and Frank Wilson said a survey of outgoing toll calls indicated in most months the toll charges to the two cities equals or surpasses the cost of the new arrangement.

When court is in session, calls for witnesses, jurors, police officers, attorneys and others cause bills to mount. There is also heavy phone traffic from the sheriff's department, the prosecutor's office, auditor and treasurer, the commissioners said.

After July 1, when county welfare departments under a new Ohio law assume control of city welfare departments, there will be a great savings because of the large number of calls which will be handled by ard J. Kaufman, 213 4th St. Moore is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moore of Broadview Circle.

With The Patients

Clyde Baker, superintendent of Wellsville's Springhill Cemetery, is a patient at Ohio Valley Hospital, Steubenville, awaiting surgery.

Miss Janice Huddleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huddleston, 826 Chester Ave., is under observation at City Hospital.

Harry B. Clutter, 545 Mulberry St., is a patient at Oakland Veterans Hospital, Pittsburgh, where he underwent surgery last week for a fractured leg.

Mrs. Pierce Chaffee of Dixonville has returned home following observation at City Hospital.

Admitted to Salem City Hospital were David Long, Kathy Gouldsberry, Knight Kuhn's Jeffrey Drummond and David McFaul of Lisbon. There's a Keating of Salineville and Mrs. Mary Wilson of New Waterford.

Released from Salem City Hospital were Donald Smith, Mrs. O. Dail Mason and Mrs. Dale Carlisle of Lisbon, John Dicken and Rhonda Bryarly of New Waterford.

Robert Kidney of Wellsville R.D. 1, injured in an auto mishap near Hanoverton recently, has been released from Salem Central Clinic.

Kevan Pisarsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pisarsky of Highlandtown, is a patient at

Motorist Cited After Collision

A city motorist was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon after his small auto struck the rear of a pickup truck on the East Liverpool - Wellsville highway Monday night at 8.

Frank F. Fluno Jr., 50, of 1025 Edgewood Ave. was fined $15 and costs this morning in Municipal Court on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Fluno was headed north when his vehicle struck the rear of the pickup truck operated by Pearl J. Mosley, 63, of Lisbon R.D. 3.

The woman and a passenger in her car, Mary Flowers 22, of Lisbon R.D. 3, were shaken and bruised in the mishap, officers said. Fluno also was injured slightly.

The patrol said the woman pulled around a stopped car and was hit by Fluno. There was moderate damage to the 1959 truck and severe damage to the small auto, officers said.
